Rome's 2,678th Birthday.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Some import from Europe ancient work of art, old books and manuscripts. Such men are useful citizens. What they buy for their intellectual pleasure today will help to educate many generations of Americans.

For the government to tax such purchases is silly and harmful. Government might better subsidize them.

Henry Ford cares little for antique paintings, but he also imports from Europe "rare objects." He imported recently the only one of its kind in all the world, and that one is Carl E. Johansson, of Sweden.

Mrs. Johansson now uses his extraordinary mechanical genius manufacturing, in Ford's admirable laboratory, the Johnsson gauges, which are the world's standard of accuracy.

The first of these gauges, just completed, is sent with Ford's compliments to Thomas A. Edison.

That marvelous machine, with its 81 blocks of finely made pieces of steel, is accurate to within one four-millionth of an inch, a size too small for your eye to see, or for the finest nerves to detect.

If others would imitate Ford and spend money importing scientific and other brains in Europe, our civilization and prosperity would grow rapidly.

What an admirable thing it would have been had one of our many rich men, to whom a few millions meant nothing, had the imagination to bring to this country scientists that were starving, unable to work for lack of materials and strength, when the war ended.

Mrs. Carrie Cook, who will know better next time, stole a pound of butter from a lunch room and hid the butter under her hat. She was caught, pleaded guilty and is now spending 30 days in the workhouse.

Nothing was said about anybody from the district attorney's office being present in the grand jury room or anything of that kind. There's a big difference between stealing one pound of butter and $100,000,000 worth of oil.

You can't hire the best lawyers or impress a gland wise judge with one pound of butter.

Our ships will extend the Pacific ocean cruise to Australia. Timid souls fear that the Australians may display too much anti-Japanese feeling on the arrival of the American fleet.

There won't be any anti-Japanese demonstration by Australians, probably. If they do indulge in such demonstrations, that's their business. It isn't ours to tell Australia how she ought to feel.

It's a good thing to send our fleet to Australia, letting Australians know that we feel as they do about keeping white lands for white men, while fully respecting the Asiatics and their rights in their land.

It would be difficult to imagine anything more impertinent than the suggesting that United States ships should not go wherever they please in the Pacific ocean.

Yet, such a suggestion was actually considered seriously by our government.

A gentleman, formerly kaiser in Germany, once undertook to tell the United States just where its ships might and might not go on the Atlantic.

TWO BULGARIAN CHIEFS SLAIN AS JUGO-SLAVS DEMAND SOFIA APOLOGY

Agrarian Party Leader and Former Minister of War in Stambulinsky Cabinet Are Assassinated as Disorders Continue in Sorrow-stricken Capital, According to Press Dispatch.

BORDER NATION RESENTS CHARGE THAT PLOT WAS INSTIGATED IN SERBIA

Break in Diplomatic Relations is Threatened if Bulgar Government Fails to Make Satisfactory Explanation of Cabinet Official's Speech Following Cathedral Bombing During Funeral.

LONDON, April 23.—M. Prutkin, leader of the Agrarian party and former chief of police of Sofia, and M. Muavieff, former minster of war in the Stambulinksy, or peasants' party cabinet, were assassinated today, according to Central News dispatch from Sofia.

The same agency, in Belgrade despatches, stated that the Jugo-Slav government had demanded that the Bulgarian government either explain or apologize for accusations from Sofia that the attempted uprising in Bulgaria was instigated in Serbia.

The Jugo-Slav government threatened to break off diplomatic relations if Bulgaria refused to comply, the agency dispatch added.

Deny Wholesale Executions.

M. Roussef, minister of the interior, made the first direct charge against Jugo-Slavia at yesterday's session of the Bulgarian parliament. He quoted the bellringer of the cathedral as saying that Captain Minkoff had assured him before the explosion that he would be taken safely across the frontier in an automobile of the Jugo-Slav legation.

Minkoff was the ex-army officer who placed the bomb under the dome of the cathedral. He was shot by the police Monday.

The British foreign office stated that it believed reports of wholesale executions in Sofia to be inspired by Communists in Vienna, and that it has discounted the reports accordingly.

"The Bulgarian government has acted with great restraint and has the situation well in hand," M. Mishef, the Bulgarian minister to England, said.

"I received a message late last night asking me on behalf of tha government officially to deny reports of wholesale arrests and executions in Bulgaria."

Protest Army Increase.

ATHENS, April 23.—Greece, Jugo-Slavia and Roumania will protest to the conference of ambassadors against any increase in the Bulgarian army, it was learned today. They will contend that Bulgaria's present forces are sufficient to preserve order and that they already exceed the limits set by the treaty of Versailles.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 23.—The newspaper Pestinaplo today said that the British and American ministers in Sofia had intervened and asked the Bulgarian government for more humane treatment of prisoners. The move was prompted, the newspaper said, by rumors of executions.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS EDITOR

W. H. Watson, Donora, Pa., Speaks at Luncheon.

"Know yourself" was the advice given members of the Kiwanis club by W. H. Watson, newspaper editor, of Donora, Pa., at the noon luncheon held in the Larkins annex, Market street, today.

"We have a lot of menaces to deal with in this day and age," he said. "One of these is selfishness. That selfishness is just as likely to crop out among Kiwanians as it is among clothing merchants.

"To the kids of your community, of my community and of every community, we owe a debt, which the service clubs can pay. We can't pay that debt by buying them fire crackers on the Fourth of July or by holding a boy's week occasionally, but we owe them an intelligent interest every day in the week.

"Some parents will say to their children 'You don't do like we did when we were young.' Sure we don't. We should reform the old and inform the young."

C. C. Cline announced that the East Liverpool club had joined the proposed Kiwanis league which is being organized in this district.

The club extended a vote of thanks to the good roads committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and the Pittsburgh business men for their interests in having legislation adopted providing for the improvement of the Lincoln highway from East Liverpool to Pittsburgh.

The attendance prize, a fountain pen, furnished by Kurt Bergner, was awarded to Mayor Charles Brown.

The conference was arranged in an effort to settle the controversy over the proposed right-of-way through Smith's Ferry. The railroad and the street car companies agreed to deed part of their property in the borough, while the commissioners will acquire the remainder of the right of way.

POSTAL BANDITS BLOW SAFE, FLEE

G. S. GOODWIN, 75, DROPS DEAD WHILE WALKING ALONG HIGHWAY

Former Pottery Plant Owner Stricken With Heart Disease.

CIVIC LEADER

Funeral Services Will be Held Saturday Afternoon.

George Smith Goodwin, 75, former president of the Goodwin Pottery company and a son of the late John Goodwin, East Liverpool's second pottery manufacturer, died suddenly of heart disease while walking along the Lincoln highway, about two miles north of the city, at 5:10 o'clock last night.

Oldest Pioneer Potter.

Mr. Goodwin, accompanied by his brother, Henry S. Goodwin, who were accustomed to long walks, was returning to his home after a trip in the country when stricken. At a point, just beyond the George McClintock home, near Sherwood, he stopped and sat down on the curbstone by the side of the road as if to rest. His brother sat down beside him.

A moment later he uttered a moan and his head dropped over on his brother's shoulder. His brother put his arm about him and within a minhe breathed his last. A physician was summoned from a nearby house, but before he arrived, the stricken man was placed in an automobile, driven by Attorney George Brokaw, who passed along at the time, and brought to his home, West Fifth and Jackson streets.

Mr. Goodwin was the oldest East Liverpool pottery manufacturer. He was born in a house which stood on Second street, opposite the Peter Milliron building, a son of John Goodwin and Esther Smith Goodwin, on June 16, 1850. His father, a potter by trade, came to East Liverpool from Staffordshire, England, in 1842, and

FOUR PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS ON NOVEMBER BALLOT

Most Important of Group is McDonald Proposal, Modifying Uniform Rule and Laying Foundation for Tax Plan.

COLUMBUS, April 23.—Greatest interest in the November elections in Ohio is expected to center in the four proposed amendments to the state constitution which are to be submitted to the people for ratification.

Most important of the group, and the one which is likely to be object of a powerful propaganda campaign during the summer and autumn, is the McDonald proposal, modifying the uniform rule and laying the foundation for a modern scientific taxation system to replace the system under which the state now operates. The proposal was defeated at referendums in 1921 and 1923.

A state-wide organization is now being built up among organizations interested in proposal to present the merits of the proposed amendment to the people and a fund of sizeable proportions is being raised to defray expenses of the campaign. The amendment would give the legislature authority to classify intangible property for taxation and to remove automobiles from personal property taxation.

Four-Year Terms for Officials.

The second measure to go before the people will be the Dempsey-Farnsworth resolution, proposing an amendment by writing into the organic state law the pay-as-you-go debt limitation provisions of the Griswold act that no bonds shall be issued for current expenses, for acquisition of property or for improvements having an estimated usefulness of no more than five years, nor for mortization over a period longer than the estimated life of the improvements. The legislature proposed to write these limitations into the constitution to

NO LIFEBOATS LOWERED BY RESCUE SHIP AS JAPANESE VESSEL SINKS

Many Praise, Others Criticize Captain of Homeric as 38 men on Nipponese Steamer go to Death.

NEW YORK, April 23.—"I saw no one clinging to the wreckage, and I gave no order to lower the boats. There was nothing to be accomplished when there was no one to be saved."

This was the explanation given today by Captain John Roberts, of the White Star liner Homeric, which arrived here late last night, as to why he did not lower lifeboats to go to the aid of the Japanese steamer Raifuku Maru which went down with all of its crew of 38 last Tuesday off the coast of Nova Scotia, while the Homeric, which had rushed to the scene, stood by.

Although 123 passengers on board the Homeric signed a testimonial praising Captain Roberts for his rescue efforts, there were some on board who voiced opposite feelings.

Failure to try to cast off the life rafts, attached to the Homeric by ropes, so that the waves would carry them to the Japanese sailors struggling in the mountainous seas, was the main contention of Captain Roberts' critics.

The majority of the passengers, however, agreed that three lifeboats were swung out on their davits aboard the Homeric and kept in readiness for lowering.

Amos R. E. Pinchot, brother of Gov. Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, was one of the group of passengers who said they saw Japanese sailors struggling in the water after the Raifuku Maru had disappeared.

"The captain's statement," he said, "was extremely inaccurate when he said there was no life in the water after the freighter capsized.

"I personally saw several men being carried toward the Homeric."

The program is understood to have the sanction of Attorney General Sargent, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and other high officials who have agreed that emergency measures must be taken to smash the smuggling evil.

It was expected that the rounded out plan would be submitted to the president nad that possibly an executive coordinating order would be requested.

Under the present system of border protection there is an absence of centralization of effort and a general conflict of authority among the various

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS EDITOR

W. H. Watson, Donora, Pa., Speaks at Luncheon.

"Know yourself" was the advice given members of the Kiwanis club by W. H. Watson, newspaper editor, of Donora, Pa., at the noon luncheon held in the Larkins annex, Market street, today.

"We have a lot of menaces to deal with in this day and age," he said. "One of these is selfishness. That selfishness is just as likely to crop out among Kiwanians as it is among clothing merchants.

"To the kids of your community, of my community and of every community, we owe a debt, which the service clubs can pay. We can't pay that debt by buying them fire crackers on the Fourth of July or by holding a boy's week occasionally, but we owe them an intelligent interest every day in the week.

"Some parents will say to their children 'You don't do like we did when we were young.' Sure we don't. We should reform the old and inform the young."

C. C. Cline announced that the East Liverpool club had joined the proposed Kiwanis league which is being organized in this district.

The club extended a vote of thanks to the good roads committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and the Pittsburgh business men for their interests in having legislation adopted providing for the improvement of the Lincoln highway from East Liverpool to Pittsburgh.

The attendance prize, a fountain pen, furnished by Kurt Bergner, was awarded to Mayor Charles Brown.

Fist Fights Mark German Campaign as Election Day Nears

BERLIN, April 23.—Fist fights and neighborhood battles were marking today the last stages of the presidential election which takes place on Sunday.

Tenement districts were the scenes of repeated strife over the colors of the two principal parties. Red and white flags decorated one building were being torn down and replaced with the black, red and gold colors of the opposition. On other tenements this is reversed.

Sessions of Eighteenth Annual Assembly of Pittsburgh Conference Will be Held in New Church.

The eighteenth annual assembly of the Pittsburgh conference, of the Church of the Nazarene, will be held in East Liverpool, May 6-10 inclusive, Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the local church, announced today.

Approximately 300 delegates representing 50 congregations in district, which embraces Eastern Ohio, Western Pennsylvania and the Panhandle district of West Virginia, are expected to attend.

Business sessions will likely be held in the Sunday school department of the new church at the corner of St. Clair and Lincoln avenues, now nearing completion. The evening services, which will be evangelistic in nature, probably will be held in the high school auditorium.

The assembly will be in charge of Dr. J. W. Goodwin, Pasadena, Cal., general superintendent of the church. An invitation has been extended to Evangelist "Bud" Robinson, of California, who will complete a series of evangelistic meetings in Alliance on April 30.

Sessions of the visiting delegates will be held morning, afternoon and evening, all meetings will be open to the public. The visitors will be quartered in the homes of members of the church during their visit here.

evening, all meetings to be open to

Assignments of ministers for the new fiscal year beginning May 1, will be a feature of the closing session on Sunday. Changes in pastors will be made only in cases where the congregation fails to extend a call to its present pastor.

Three years ago, the Pittsburgh assembly held its annual meeting in East Liverpool.

STATE LINE-MIDLAND HIGHWAY WILL BE COMPLETED BEFORE FALL

Agreement Made by Pennsylvania Highway Officials, Railroad and Traction Company Representatives.

The river road between Midland and the state line, which will link East Liverpool with a direct highway to Pittsburgh, will be completed this summer, as the result of an agreement between the Pennsylvania highway department, Pennsylvania Railroad company and the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company.

This was the announcement made today by Art W. Coombs, Beaver, chairman of the Beaver county board of county commissioners, following his return from Harrisburg, where representatives of the street car company and the railroad company conferred with the state highway department.

The conference was arranged in an effort to settle the controversy over the proposed right-of-way through Smith's Ferry. The railroad and the street car companies agreed to deed part of their property in the borough, while the commissioners will acquire the remainder of the right of way.

According to the commissioners the

POSTAL BANDITS BLOW SAFE, FLEE

FRANKLIN, Pa., April 23.—Under cover of a heavy electrical storm, four bandits blew open the safe of the Cochranton postoffice, 20 miles north of here, early this morning and escaped toward the Ohio line in an automobile. The loss was small, Postmaster E. J. Fleming said.

One of the robbers was believed to have been wounded by Howard Hart, who opened fire when he saw them escaping.

G. S. GOODWIN, 75, DROPS DEAD WHILE WALKING ALONG HIGHWAY

Former Pottery Plant Owner Stricken With Heart Disease.

CIVIC LEADER

Funeral Services Will be Held Saturday Afternoon.

George Smith Goodwin, 75, former president of the Goodwin Pottery company and a son of the late John Goodwin, East Liverpool's second pottery manufacturer, died suddenly of heart disease while walking along the Lincoln highway, about two miles north of the city, at 5:10 o'clock last night.

Oldest Pioneer Potter.

Mr. Goodwin, accompanied by his brother, Henry S. Goodwin, who were accustomed to long walks, was returning to his home after a trip in the country when stricken. At a point, just beyond the George McClintock home, near Sherwood, he stopped and sat down on the curbstone by the side of the road as if to rest. His brother sat down beside him.

A moment later he uttered a moan and his head dropped over on his brother's shoulder. His brother put his arm about him and within a minhe breathed his last. A physician was summoned from a nearby house, but before he arrived, the stricken man was placed in an automobile, driven by Attorney George Brokaw, who passed along at the time, and brought to his home, West Fifth and Jackson streets.

Mr. Goodwin was the oldest East Liverpool pottery manufacturer. He was born in a house which stood on Second street, opposite the Peter Milliron building, a son of John Goodwin and Esther Smith Goodwin, on June 16, 1850. His father, a potter by trade, came to East Liverpool from Staffordshire, England, in 1842, and

England Welcomes Alanson Houghton, New U. S. Ambassador

PLYMOUTH, England, April 23.—Alanson B. Houghton, new ambassador to the court of St. James, stepped from the deck of the liner George Washington into the arms of a warm welcome here today.

He was greeted by Lord Astor, the mayor of Plymouth, American Charge d'Affaires Sterling and other embassy officials.

"The warmth of joyous welcome at the very threshold of England makes me feel I am in the home of friends," the new ambassador declared.

He declined to discuss international affairs, but specifically denied he had brought with him a plan for a second disarmament conference.

THREE INJURED AS BUS UPSETS

CLEVELAND, April 23.—Three persons were injured today when a Cleveland-Berea bus overturned on Rocky river road. None of those injured are considered in a serious condition. Eight others escaped unhurt. The bus overturned when it struck a rut attempting to avoid collision with an automobile.

FOUR PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS ON NOVEMBER BALLOT

Most Important of Group is McDonald Proposal, Modifying Uniform Rule and Laying Foundation for Tax Plan.

COLUMBUS, April 23.—Greatest interest in the November elections in Ohio is expected to center in the four proposed amendments to the state constitution which are to be submitted to the people for ratification.

Most important of the group, and the one which is likely to be object of a powerful propaganda campaign during the summer and autumn, is the McDonald proposal, modifying the uniform rule and laying the foundation for a modern scientific taxation system to replace the system under which the state now operates. The proposal was defeated at referendums in 1921 and 1923.

A state-wide organization is now being built up among organizations interested in proposal to present the merits of the proposed amendment to the people and a fund of sizeable proportions is being raised to defray expenses of the campaign. The amendment would give the legislature authority to classify intangible property for taxation and to remove automobiles from personal property taxation.

Four-Year Terms for Officials.

The second measure to go before the people will be the Dempsey-Farnsworth resolution, proposing an amendment by writing into the organic state law the pay-as-you-go debt limitation provisions of the Griswold act that no bonds shall be issued for current expenses, for acquisition of property or for improvements having an estimated usefulness of no more than five years, nor for mortization over a period longer than the estimated life of the improvements. The legislature proposed to write these limitations into the constitution to

NO LIFEBOATS LOWERED BY RESCUE SHIP AS JAPANESE VESSEL SINKS

Many Praise, Others Criticize Captain of Homeric as 38 men on Nipponese Steamer go to Death.

NEW YORK, April 23.—"I saw no one clinging to the wreckage, and I gave no order to lower the boats. There was nothing to be accomplished when there was no one to be saved."

This was the explanation given today by Captain John Roberts, of the White Star liner Homeric, which arrived here late last night, as to why he did not lower lifeboats to go to the aid of the Japanese steamer Raifuku Maru which went down with all of its crew of 38 last Tuesday off the coast of Nova Scotia, while the Homeric, which had rushed to the scene, stood by.

Although 123 passengers on board the Homeric signed a testimonial praising Captain Roberts for his rescue efforts, there were some on board who voiced opposite feelings.

Failure to try to cast off the life rafts, attached to the Homeric by ropes, so that the waves would carry them to the Japanese sailors struggling in the mountainous seas, was the main contention of Captain Roberts' critics.

The majority of the passengers, however, agreed that three lifeboats were swung out on their davits aboard the Homeric and kept in readiness for lowering.

Amos R. E. Pinchot, brother of Gov. Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, was one of the group of passengers who said they saw Japanese sailors struggling in the water after the Raifuku Maru had disappeared.

"The captain's statement," he said, "was extremely inaccurate when he said there was no life in the water after the freighter capsized.

"I personally saw several men being carried toward the Homeric."

agencies, it was understood. The "merger" of federal agencies was suggested to correct this evil.

Lack of Harmony Reported.

An official investigation disclosed that the various arms of the border patrol have not been working in entire harmony. A clash between agents of the prohibition unit and immigration service at Detroit was recently reported to the labor department. Other petty jealousies have arisen preventing effective law enforcement, officials said.

Instead of acting independently, as under present regulations, agents of the state, labor, treasury and justice departments, will co-operate and will be held jointly responsible for the enforcement of all laws pertaining to border protection, if the "merger" is effected. This would send a tremendous army of federal agents into the field searching for all violators of federal laws.

The proposed "merger" has frequently been suggested in congress, but the conference tomorrow will be the first step in that direction ever taken by the executive branch of the government.

Steamship Company Drops Suit Against U. S. Shipping Board

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The Pacific Mail Steamship company today abandoned its suit against the United States shipping board to prevent sale of five "President type" liners to the Robert Dollar line.

This action was taken when attorneys for the Pacific Mail announced in District supreme court that they would not appeal from the ruling of Justice Hitz, who declined to half the sale by injunction.

A temporary restraining order, issued by the court Saturday, expired at the same time, leaving the shipping board free to carry out a contract selling the ships to the Dollar line.

The Pacific Mail, which now operates the vessels, had opposed the sale on the ground that it would create a monopoly by Dollar interest in shipping on the Pacific ocean.

TELEPHONE-RADIO FILM IS SHOWN

Plant employes of the Bell Telephone company of the local district met in the Ceramic Cafeteria hall, West Fifth street, last evening, where they witnessed the showing of a three-reel motion picture depicting the manufacture of apparatus used in the telephone and radio business.

About 35 telephone workers from Salem, Lisbon, Steubenville and other nearby towns were in attendance. Luncheon was served at the conclusion of the picture.

FIRE RAZES TWO GRAIN ELEVATORS

CHICAGO, April 23.—Smouldering masses of thousands of bushels of grain, twisted and charred masonry and steel was all that remained today of two big grain elevators on the Southside, as a result of a fire which burned throughout the night, started 15 other small blazes, imperrilled the entire district and caused a loss of $3,000,000.

The elevator fire was the most disastrous in Chicago in 20 years. It raged for hours before firemen controlled it. Railroad and trolley traffic were tired up.

France Will Not Repudiate Her Debts, Herriot Declaration

PARIS, April 23.—Speaking on the subject of France's liabilities, Edouard Herriot, newly elected president of the chamber of deputies, declared in the chamber today that "France does not wish to repudiate her debts."

Debts, the former premier said, "have weighed heavily upon France for years. But France desires to progress resolutely forward and can do so only if her children are willing to sacrifice their material interests for the joys of lightening the nation's burden's."

Herriot's declaration was a part of the traditional speech which he made in taking over the presidency of the chamber at 3 o'clock this afternoon. He was elected to the office yesterday.

The French foreign office said it was possible that Premier Painleve and Minister Briand would go to London shortly to discuss with the British government measures looking toward France's security from invasion.

Three American Women are Granted Divorces in Paris

PARIS, April 23.—Three American women were granted divorces by the Seine tribunal today. Mrs. James Dwight Reames, born Katherine Gibbs and married in New York May 4, 1922, was the first.

Mrs. Raymond Palmer Rife, nee Suzanne La Guerre, was given a divorce and custody of four year old daughter, in a decree granted by default against Raymond Rife, whose address was given as 2313 north Main street, Rockford, Ill. The Rifes were married in Paris in 1919.

Mrs. Gilbert Brooke Perkins was the third to receive a divorce. She was formerly Miss Kate Fletcher and was married in Sarasota, Fla., March 14, 1921.

proposed right of way through Smith's Ferry will cost about $35,000. The traction company will spend about $32,000 [illegible] improvements, while the railroad company's share of the expense will be approximately $50,000.

The proposed improvement will be submitted to the public service commission for its approval. The road will be built and maintained by the state.

The Beaver county commissioners have set aside $50,000 with which to bridge Beaver creek at the westerly end of Smith's Ferry. The old steel span is no longer safe.

The road from Beaver to Midland, with the exception of a short stretch through Industry, was completed last summer. Buildings, occupying a part of the right of way through Vanport, are now being moved and the roadway at this point will be surfaced this summer. Midland has also completed the road within the corporation.

As a bill for the improvement of the Lincoln highway road through Chester and Clinton has already passed the legislature and steps are now being taken to seek bids, it is likely that East Liverpool will have two hard surfaced roads to Pittsburgh before the end of another year. The road through Chester is said to be approximately 10 miles shorter than the route up the river through Beaver, Rochester and Sewickley.

41 Men Convicted Of Grafting Dropped From Police Force

CINCINNATI, April 23.—Forty-one members of the Cincinnati police department who were either convicted or pleaded guilty to grafting on the illicit liquor traffic were dropped from the force today.

Complying with civil service requirements, Charles E. Tudor, director of public safety, dismissed the men.

The fate of the seven other officers whose indictments were nolled by U. S. District Judge Smith Hickenlooper because of insufficient evidence will be determined later.

a year later was joined by his wife and daughter.

Father Established Business

In 1844 after the Bennett pottery was swept away by a flood, John Goodwin, father of the deceased, took over several buildings along the river bank owned by Benjamin Harker and at that time used in the manufacture of ale. Here was operated a one-kiln plant used in the manufacture of yellowware, Mr. Goodwin being associated with Thomas Croxall and Ned Tunnecliff, young Englishmen. A year or two later, the elder goodwin year or two later, the elder Goodwin erected a one-kiln plant at the foot of Market street, where the old Mountford & Sons plant now stands. He sold this plant in 1853 to the Baggot Pottery company.

John Goodwin launched another pottery venture on what is now the site of the D. E. McNicol pottery, Broadway, in 1863. In 1869 he moved to Trenton, N. J., where he became a member of a pottery manufacturing firm known as the Taylor-Goodwin & company, in the manufacture of white granite ware.

Purchased Broadway Plant.

Dissatisfied in Trenton, he returned to East Liverpool in 1870. A short time later he purchased from Timothy Rigby, the two-kiln plant at the corner of Sixth street and Broadway, now owned by the Hall China company. He enlarged this plant and at the time of his death in 1875 it was the largest pottery west of the Allegheny mountains.

Upon the death of John Goodwin, the business was taken over by his three sons, James H., George S., and Henry S. Goodwin, being operated under the name of Goodwin Brothers. James H. Goodwin was the first president of the company, holding that place until his death in 1896, when George S. Goodwin succeeded him. Henry S. Goodwin was treasurer. The company was incorporated in 1893 under the name of the Goodwin Pottery company.

On April 23, 1912, thirteen years ago [illegible] kiln was fired off at the Goodwin Pottery Co. plant, when the company quit the manufacturing field.

Funeral Services in Home.

In 1897 George Goodwin married Miss Josephine Fisher. She died in 1903.

He was a trustee of the East Liverpool City Hospital association until about two years ago and was a member of the Riverview cemetery association at the time of his death. He was treasurer of the United States Potters association from 1896 to 1907.

While not a member, he was a regular attendant at the First Methodist Episcopal church. He supported all movements which had a tendency for the betterment and uplift of the community.

Mr. Goodwin leaves but one near relative, his brother, Henry S. Goodwin, of this city. He has a number of nephews residing here.

Funeral services will be conducted in the late home at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in charge of Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

The fourth proposed amendment is the Marshall-Lipp "city planning" proposal, providing that municipalities in acquiring property for a public improvement may assess the cost against benefited property, whether abutting the improvement, contiguous to it, or otherwise located.

Concentration—

For sixteen years Easy Washer engineers have concentrated on the correct application of electrical energy to the operation of the vacuum cup principle of clothes washing. The "EASY" Vacuum Electric Washer was a success from the start. It has never been found necessary to adopt a new washing principle.

Today the "EASY", with its many points of mechanical superiority and numerous conveniences, has well nigh approached a point of perfection. Witness the straight line lever action—minimizing friction. Inspect the machine cut helical gears or the ground bearings if you are interested in such matters, or assure yourself that these important points have been well taken care of by talking with your neighbor who owns an "EASY."

The undivided attention of our experts has been constantly centered upon the perfection of this mechanism and this washing principle—always fundamentally correct. The splendid facilities of our completely equipped experimental laboratory have been used for this one objective—the perfection of details—the refinement of the "EASY" Vacuum Electric Washer. Those who buy an "EASY" profit by this concentration. They own a time-tried, a simplified, a permanent possession, a washer of stability, of quiet, co-ordinated performance.

There is no disputing the fact that an electric washing machine is the only right way—the best way—to wash clothes. Now there can be no question but that the "EASY'S" advanced and outstanding mechanical simplicity, developed correctness of design and long-lived wearing parts justly entitle it to the position of first place it has earned with the housewives of America.

A demonstration in your own home will prove a revelation.

agencies, it was understood. The "merger" of federal agencies was suggested to correct this evil.

Lack of Harmony Reported.

An official investigation disclosed that the various arms of the border patrol have not been working in entire harmony. A clash between agents of the prohibition unit and immigration service at Detroit was recently reported to the labor department. Other petty jealousies have arisen preventing effective law enforcement, officials said.

Instead of acting independently, as under present regulations, agents of the state, labor, treasury and justice departments, will co-operate and will be held jointly responsible for the enforcement of all laws pertaining to border protection, if the "merger" is effected. This would send a tremendous army of federal agents into the field searching for all violators of federal laws.

The proposed "merger" has frequently been suggested in congress, but the conference tomorrow will be the first step in that direction ever taken by the executive branch of the government.

Steamship Company Drops Suit Against U. S. Shipping Board

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The Pacific Mail Steamship company today abandoned its suit against the United States shipping board to prevent sale of five "President type" liners to the Robert Dollar line.

This action was taken when attorneys for the Pacific Mail announced in District supreme court that they would not appeal from the ruling of Justice Hitz, who declined to half the sale by injunction.

A temporary restraining order, issued by the court Saturday, expired at the same time, leaving the shipping board free to carry out a contract selling the ships to the Dollar line.

The Pacific Mail, which now operates the vessels, had opposed the sale on the ground that it would create a monopoly by Dollar interest in shipping on the Pacific ocean.

The elevator fire was the most disastrous in Chicago in 20 years. It raged for hours before firemen controlled it. Railroad and trolley traffic were tired up.

Debts, the former premier said, "have weighed heavily upon France for years. But France desires to progress resolutely forward and can do so only if her children are willing to sacrifice their material interests for the joys of lightening the nation's burden's proposed right of way through Smith's Ferry will cost about $35,000. The traction company will spend about $32,000 [illegible] improvements, while the railroad company's share of the expense will be approximately $50,000.

The proposed improvement will be submitted to the public service commission for its approval. The road will be built and maintained by the state.

The Beaver county commissioners have set aside $50,000 with which to bridge Beaver creek at the westerly end of Smith's Ferry. The old steel span is no longer safe.

The road from Beaver to Midland, with the exception of a short stretch through Industry, was completed last summer. Buildings, occupying a part of the right of way through Vanport, are now being moved and the road way at this point will be surfaced this summer. Midland has also completed the road within the corporation.

As a bill for the improvement of the Lincoln highway road through Chester and Clinton has already passed the legislature and steps are now being taken to seek bids, it is likely that East Liverpool will have two hard surfaced roads to Pittsburgh before the end of another year. The road through Chester is said to be approximately 10 miles shorter than the route up the river through Beaver, Rochester and Sewickley.

The fate of the seven other officers whose indictments were nolled by U. S. District Judge Smith Hickenlooper because of insufficient evidence will be determined later.

G. S. Goodwin

a year later was joined by his wife and daughter.

Father Established Business

In 1844 after the Bennett pottery was swept away by a flood, John Goodwin, father of the deceased, took over several buildings along the river bank owned by Benjamin Harker and at that time used in the manufacture of ale. Here was operated a one-kiln plant used in the manufacture of yellowware, Mr. Goodwin being associated with Thomas Croxall and Ned Tunnecliff, young Englishmen. A year or two later, the elder goodwin year or two later, the elder Goodwin erected a one-kiln plant at the foot of Market street, where the old Mountford & Sons plant now stands. He sold this plant in 1853 to the Baggot Pottery company.

John Goodwin launched another pottery venture on what is now the site of the D. E. McNicol pottery, Broadway, in 1863. In 1869 he moved to Trenton, N. J., where he became a member of a pottery manufacturing firm known as the Taylor-Goodwin & company, in the manufacture of white granite ware.

Purchased Broadway Plant.

Dissatisfied in Trenton, he returned to East Liverpool in 1870. A short time later he purchased from Timothy Rigby, the two-kiln plant at the corner of Sixth street and Broadway, now owned by the Hall China company. He enlarged this plant and at the time of his death in 1875 it was the largest pottery west of the Allegheny mountains.

Upon the death of John Goodwin, the business was taken over by his three sons, James H., George S., and Henry S. Goodwin, being operated under the name of Goodwin Brothers. James H. Goodwin was the first president of the company, holding that place until his death in 1896, when George S. Goodwin succeeded him. Henry S. Goodwin was treasurer. The company was incorporated in 1893 under the name of the Goodwin Pottery company.

On April 23, 1912, thirteen years ago [illegible] was fired off at the Goodwin Pottery Co., plant, when the company quit the manufacturing field.

Funeral Services in Home.

In 1897 George Goodwin married Miss Josephine Fisher. She died in 1903.

He was a trustee of the East Liverpool City Hospital association until about two years ago and was a member of the Riverview cemetery association at the time of his death. He was treasurer of the United States Potters association from 1896 to 1907.

While not a member, he was a regular attendant at the First Methodist Episcopal church. He supported all movements which had a tendency for the betterment and uplift of the community.

Mr. Goodwin leaves but one near relative, his brother, Henry S. Goodwin, of this city. He has a number of nephews residing here.

Funeral services will be conducted in the late home at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in charge of Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

The management of the Gentry Bros.-Jas. Patterson Circus, which comes here Wednesday, May 6, for two performances, imported for this season's show the Cottrell-Powells, famous European carrying riding act, which is one of over two score features presented on the big two-hour program. This act has no equal in the annals of circus history and is worth going many miles to witness. From the time of closing of the dazzling spectacular opening number, "Fairyland," until the familiar final announcement, "all out and over," the three ring, hippodrome and stages are filled in rapid rotation with aerialists, acrobats, tumblers, slack wire artists, trapeze performers, flying ballet of girls suspended from the top of the tent by their teeth, a whole army of clowns, educated dogs, goats and other domestice animals and the famous Gentry Shetland ponies.

Another amendment to go before the people is the Sweeney resolution, providing four-year terms for all elective state and county officials except judicial officers and members of the legislature. A strong campaign in support of this amendment also is expected to be organized.

The fourth proposed amendment is the Marshall-Lipp "city planning" proposal, providing that municipalities in acquiring property for a public improvement may assess the cost against benefited property, whether abutting the improvement, contiguous to it, or otherwise located.

Ogilvie's Store News

EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, THURSDAY, APRIL 23, 1925.

Concentration—

For sixteen years Easy Washer engineers have concentrated on the correct application of electrical energy to the operation of the vacuum cup principle of clothes washing. The "EASY" Vacuum Electric Washer was a success from the start. It has never been found necessary to adopt a new washing principle.

Today the "EASY", with its many points of mechanical superiority and numerous conveniences, has well nigh approached a point of perfection. Witness the straight line lever action—minimizing friction. Inspect the machine cut helical gears or the ground bearings if you are interested in such matters, or assure yourself that these important points have been well taken care of by talking with your neighbor who owns an "EASY."

The undivided attention of our experts has been constantly centered upon the perfection of this mechanism and this washing principle—always fundamentally correct. The splendid facilities of our completely equipped experimental laboratory have been used for this one objective—the perfection of details—the refinement of the "EASY" Vacuum Electric Washer. Those who buy an "EASY" profit by this concentration. They own a time-tried, a simplified, a permanent possession, a washer of stability, of quiet, co-ordinated performance.

There is no disputing the fact that an electric washing machine is the only right way—the best way—to wash clothes. Now there can be no question but that the "EASY'S" advanced and outstanding mechanical simplicity, developed correctness of design and long-lived wearing parts justly entitle it to the position of first place it has earned with the housewives of America.

A demonstration in your own home will prove a revelation.

Uncle Sam Launches Drive to Stop Fake 'Colony' Sales

Unscrupulous Salesmen Send Farmers to South America to Find Land is Desert.

WASHINGTON, April — Aimed at protecting the public from fake colonization schemes, especially in South America, a determined campaign has been launched by the government.

Reports have been received by the Department of Commerce indicating the collapse of a recently established American colony in South America, in which virtually all the land purchasers lost heavily.

Demand that the government take steps to prosecute the promoters of the scheme has been received by the department. It is probable the evidence will be turned over to the Department of Justice and the Postoffice Department for a thorough investigation.

Farm Land Sold.

Taking advantage of the depression in the agricultural sections, a land company prosecuted a successful selling campaign, disposing of a considerable tract of farm real estate in South America.

The Department of Commerce has been informed that the land was far removed from transportation facilities, and some of it was on a desert. When the colonists arrived on the site their efforts at farming are said to have failed, and American officials were faced with the necessity of raising funds to get them back to the United States.

While representatives of South American powers in Washington have represented to the Department of Commerce that some of the colonization schemes are legitimate, officials said that many of them offer little probability of success for Americans.

Investigation.

Officials today urged that before entering into contracts for South American or other foreign agricultural lands, prospective purchasers make personal investigation, or take the matter up either with the State Department or the Department of Commerce.

Facilities are understood to have been perfected in these two departments to determine the legitimacy of foreign land-selling projects. Officials believed that the saving to American investors would reach hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

Foreign embassies here have pledged their co-operation to the government in the effort to weed out the legitimate land selling schemes from those indicating fraud.

Prosecutionns of fraudulent land-promoters would be possible, it was understood, under a federal statute pertaining to conspiracies, and also under the law applying to the use of the mails to defraud.

Under the direction of the Swedish government, schools for the little Laplanders are held in nomad tents.

Uncle Sam Launches Drive to Stop Fake 'Colony' Sales

Unscrupulous Salesmen Send Farmers to South America to Find Land is Desert.

WASHINGTON, April — Aimed at protecting the public from fake colonization schemes, especially in South America, a determined campaign has been launched by the government.

Reports have been received by the Department of Commerce indicating the collapse of a recently established American colony in South America, in which virtually all the land purchasers lost heavily.

Demand that the government take steps to prosecute the promoters of the scheme has been received by the department. It is probable the evidence will be turned over to the Department of Justice and the Postoffice Department for a thorough investigation.

Farm Land Sold.

Taking advantage of the depression in the agricultural sections, a land company prosecuted a successful selling campaign, disposing of a considerable tract of farm real estate in South America.

The Department of Commerce has been informed that the land was far removed from transportation facilities, and some of it was on a desert. When the colonists arrived on the site their efforts at farming are said to have failed, and American officials were faced with the necessity of raising funds to get them back to the United States.

While representatives of South American powers in Washington have represented to the Department of Commerce that some of the colonization schemes are legitimate, officials said that many of them offer little probability of success for Americans.

Investigation.

Officials today urged that before entering into contracts for South American or other foreign agricultural lands, prospective purchasers make personal investigation, or take the matter up either with the State Department or the Department of Commerce.

Facilities are understood to have been perfected in these two departments to determine the legitimacy of foreign land-selling projects. Officials believed that the saving to American investors would reach hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

Foreign embassies here have pledged their co-operation to the government in the effort to weed out the legitimate land selling schemes from those indicating fraud.

Prosecutionns of fraudulent land-promoters would be possible, it was understood, under a federal statute pertaining to conspiracies, and also under the law applying to the use of the mails to defraud.

Under the direction of the Swedish government, schools for the little Lapplanders are held in nomad tents.

Safety Message For Schools

In keeping with the nation-wide movement of the American Automobile association and the National Motorists' association, the Ohio State Automobile association and its various units are carrying a message of "safety first" to Young America as a means of reducing the appalling toll in traffic accidents.

Representatives of the Columbiana County Motor club tomorrow will visit the public and parochial schools in the cities and sends letters, urging precautions on the part of pupils, to rural schools, in co-operation with other automobile organizations throughout the state. This educational campaign will be emphasized in Hancock county, W. Va., as well as in Columbiana county.

Observance of regulations governing cross-walks at street intersections as well as hints to safeguard lives in walking along country roads will be urged. The danger of jay-walking will be stressed, while attention will be directed to the importance of exercising common sense at all times as means of safety.

The need of the "safety message" is apparent from a glance at statistics. During 1923 reports of deaths from accidents in continental United States showed a total of 83,772, an increase of 7,517 over the previous year. In the list of causes, the automobile led, with 15,714, almost doubling the toll of life exacted by railroads, which were responsible for 8,078 fatalities. Street cars snuffed out 1,771 lives, 7,304 were burned to death, 6,529 drowned and 15,382 killed in falls.

Books In College

Book ownership and private libraries have sometimes been considered things of the past. In the present day, it has been thought, people read books borrowed from public libraries and care very little about building up libraries in their homes. College students are supposed to pay attention only to text books required for study.

For these reasons a library exhibit held recently at Yale university is of interest. It was a display of the private collections of books and manuscripts belonging to the students and housed in the dormitories. A group of undergraduates were authors of the happy idea to assemble these collections for a public exhibit.

It is reported: "The Yale faculty members and the literati of New Haven admitted that they were stricken dumb with amazement and admiration at the extent, the value and even the magnificence of the collection of books and manuscripts which the undergraduates brought together."

This should give pause to critical persons who have believed that the colleges and universities were addicted to everything but an interest in books. Private libraries and an appreciation of good literature and fine books apparently can thrive on the same campus with a great stadium and keen interest in athletics.

Indian Blood

The Indian race is not dying out, as many have supposed. It is growing—on the color fringes. The full-bloods are just holding their own. The mixed bloods are increasing at the rate of about 1,000 a year.

Here is another surprise. It used to be traditional that an Indian half-breed was "no good." Yet half-breeds are now turning into substantial citizens, successful farmers and capitalists. There are 43,000 Indians settled on farms, against 20,000 ten years ago, and western banks have $35,000,000 of Indian money.

The race will probably die out in time, just the same, not by extinction but by assimilation. The half-breeds marry more and more with the dominant whites, thinning the red strain in their blood. There are bound to be more and more mixed marriages of the full-bloods. Eventually the "redskins" will be gone, having added a little copper to the average American complexion and a little more calmness to the American character.

The Radio Mushroom

The radio industry may be regarded as about five years old. The Radio Corporation of America in 1920 sold $2,000,000 worth of receiving sets. Last year its sales were $300,000,000. The industry now employes 250,000 persons. It may be assumed that one family out of every 100 is supported by it. There are 4,000,000 receiving sets in use, with 600 broadcasting stations, furnishing information and entertainment to perhaps 16,000,000 Americans.

Never has any other industry had such a growth.

Other industries developing with mushroom speed have collapsed. There is no sign of the collapse of radio. It is probably only at the threshold of its achievement. One of these times, however, aviation may start and give both radio and motor industries "a run for their money."

Chicago expects to have 6,600,000 people by 1950. Anybody but a Chicagoan who has ever trodden Chicago sidewalks or driven Chicago streets or ridden in Chicago cars has some idea, however inadequate, or how dreadful that will be.

Von Hindenburg is finding that, whatever war may be, politics is Hades.

It won't take many more years of radio to make farmers keep city hours.

"Fines for jaywalkers" is the slogan of a new traffic reform movement. Which, as you might say, would be fine for motorists.

HASKIN'S LETTER
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A Model Tourist Camp.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23.—The wanderlust season is upon us. This is evidenced by the number of out-of-town license tags on automobiles seen on the streets. Perhaps this is particularly apparent in Washington because sooner or later everyone who can possibly contrive to do so seems to head toward the National Capital. And this is the beginning of the open season for tourists. At this time the famous Japanese cherry trees are in full bloom along the Potomac speedway and around the tidal basin. Thousands of visitors come from all over the United States just to see them.

More and more people are traveling in automobiles now, both because it is cheaper and because they enjoy getting out into the open. And a larger proportion of these prefer to camp instead of stopping in hotels. Therefore tourist camps have sprung up all over the country. The one in East Potomac Park in Washington is considered one of the most complete.

The site of this camp is particularly advantageous. It overlooks the Potomac and is close to the public golf course. One who has traveled a hundred miles or so may until the bow knots by taking a turn around the golf course. Or if he feels like a little lazy diversion he may take the trusty fishing line, hang his feet over the sea wall and try his luck.

Formerly this tourist camp was leased to a concessionaire, but last year congress appropriated $50,000 to be used in putting up additional buildings and making a permanent camp. A further appropriation of $5,000 was made to cover the upkeep expenses. It is now under the supervision of the Office of Buildings and Public Parks.

The camp was not taken over by the government until the end of the last year, and as it was closed during the winter, not a great deal was done toward the carrying out of the ultimate plan that is being drafted. However, the drainage has been improved so that the tourist may be assured of a dry shelter even during a rainy period.

All Modern Conveniences.

This camp has all modern improvements including hot and cold water. A central laundry has been provided where Mrs. Tourist may "rinse out a few things." A space for drying these things has been enclosed by trees so that they may not be visible from the road and perchance distract the curious motorist so that he runs into another car or over the wall into the river.

Colonel C. O. Sherrill, who is in general charge, says that the other day when he was going through the central building a number of women who were doing some washing, and in the midst of this he was surprised to find a young man diligently curling his mother's hair. The colonel did not say whether she was having her hair curled while she washed, thus combining two operations much as is done in beauty parlors where one may be given a "facial" and manicure, or "wave" and manicure at the same time.

There are shower baths, and it is planned to put in more of these. There are also rest rooms, a grocery store, a lunch counter and a central recreation hall. At the grocery store, it has been said, may be purchased anything from a bottle of perfume to a bottle of coca cola.

In the recreation hall is an electric piano so that the campers may entertain themselves by singing or dancing if they so desire. There is also a radio so that the visitors need not exert himself at all in order to find entertainment.

Low Fees Are Charged.

Card playing is very popular although gambling is not permitted. One of the rules of the camp is that every one must be quiet after 11 o'clock. This probably seems early to most people, but those who are touring are apt to want to make an early start and therefore desire to turn in early in order to get their full quota of sleep so as to be fresh and alert for the morning drive.

The charge for camping space is very low. The rate is 50 cents a day for each car, regardless of the number of people traveling in it. This rate also covers the charge for a trailer. For 50 cents additional the traveler may obtain a tent with a wooden floor, two cots, a table and a chair.

Free firewood is furnished by the camp, and there are army buzacot field ovens which are for the use of the tourists. One of the plans for the permanent camp is to install a central kitchen where all of the cooking of the camp may be done.

The camp sites are arranged on symmetrical lots so that the camp may have a uniform appearance, and not appear from the road as a helter skelter jumble of cars, trailers and tents. The capacity of the camp at the present time is 500 cars and 2,500 people. The manager says that since March 1 there has been 1,000 persons registered. All motorists must register when they enter and check out when leaving.

When a car comes into the camp the manager meets it, gives the occupants an official welcome, takes the number and assigns them to their individual pot of ground where they may set up housekeeping.

Part of the official greeting is "Please read the rules." These are not oppressive. One must keep his dog tied and not allow him to wander around forming uncensored friendships and enmities. It is not permissible to indulge in speech-making unless given the special O. K. of the management, and you must not make your fellow tourists feel at home by deluging them with advertising material for some article in which you have a particular interest.

The camp is under constant police protection so that motorist need have no worry about losing spare tires, motometers, pots, pans, or any of their other belongings. Occasionally some will request that the manager check his valuables in the approved fashion of hotels. He is willing to do this but can not undertake to guarantee protection against loss, since as yet the camp has not installed a safe.

There is also a gasoline station within the camp grounds at which gas is sold at the standard rates. Really the camper can obtain practically everything he needs or desires within the confines of the camp itself, and need not risk getting lost in the more or less confusing avenues, squares and circles for which Washington is famous or notorious.

Of course modern tourist camps are springing up all over the country, and each community is apt to take particular pride in its own. There is a national interest in the one in Washington, because it is operated by the federal government, is located in the nation's capital, and sooner or later is apt to be the temporary home of almost any American.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 23.—I have been impressed recently with the change that has come to dentistry. New York now has several buildings given over exclusively to this profession. There are prim and alert office girls who relieve your nervousness with brisk conversation.

If one wants a tooth extracted he is directed to an extract. The chief dentist has several assistants who prepare the way for his skillful touch. The mechanical equipment are dazzling and intricate.

In my town there were two dentists—the proprietor of a barber shop and the leading veterinarian. Once in awhile we had an expert who came through town in his banjo-torched wagon selling Indian medicine and pulling teeth with his fingers free on the side.

When the old folk wanted a new set of teeth they measured their mouth with a string and sent it to a mail order house in Chicago. The opening of the first painless dentist parlor in our town was one of the big events in the community.

I remember Buck Webb, the livery stable proprietor, who had been without teeth for 30 years. His face closed up like a railroad time table folder and he ate all his meals with a spoon. He had a peculiar way of speaking. Some wit said he spoke Gum Arabic.

The painless dentist wanted to show what he could do with such a conspicuous subject and offered to outfit him free. The first day Buck wore them his turtle face had become horsey. His new set of crockery revealed delicate pink gums.

Buck went proudly home. His wife, who lived across the railroad tracks, was a timid soul and afraid of tramps and beggars. When Buck went in the gate she took one look at him and went screaming through the back yard. The dog came out from under the house and bit Buck in the leg. And it was the first time in 30 years Buck had been able to bite back.

I wonder, too, what has become of the itinerant piano tuner who came to small towns with the first touch of spring. He had long hair and a soulful expression and was looked upon as an artist. He would sit for hours zinging the keys and tightening the strings. He was called Professor. The other day I had need for a piano tuner. I had to talk to his secretary for an appointment. An assistant came with his mechanical necessities. The tuner himself arrived later—an elegante in yellow gloves, Bond street clothes and walking stick. He insisted no one must enter the room while he was at work. He made a charge of $10 which was the first and biggest payment made on the piano.

Speaking of dentistry and teeth, Arnold Bennett, the English novelist, on his last visit here displayed a pivot tooth in front that was quite the wonder of those who met him. In moments of repose the novelist had a habit of touching the finger to it and twisting it around. It had all the fascination of a loose tooth—and what is more fascinating?—and also the lure of roulette. You watched him twist it about and wondered whether it would stop on the black or on the white. One evening at a dinner, George Buchanan Fife, the writer, sat across from Bennett. He, too, was fascinated. Afterward he said he supposed that in England you bought a tooth much in the manner a bachelor does a theatre ticket. You plank down your money and say: "Give me a good one, way down front!"

The Tuxedo suits for evening, a replica of the male idea, that are being worn by the ladies of Paris are finding little favor here. So far only one has been seen in the cafes. She wore the stiff shirt front with standing collar, a white vest and a black bow tie. She is a show girl and nightly in her play by way of contrast she wears a plume and a smile.

It was a display of the private collections of books and manuscripts belonging to the students and housed in the dormitories. A group of undergraduates were authors of the happy idea to assemble these collections for a public exhibit.

It is reported: "The Yale faculty members and the literati of New Haven admitted that they were stricken dumb with amazement and admiration at the extent, the value and even the magnificence of the collection of books and manuscripts which the undergraduates brought together."

This should give pause to critical persons who have believed that the colleges and universities were addicted to everything but an interest in books. Private libraries and an appreciation of good literature and fine books apparently can thrive on the same campus with a great stadium and keen interest in athletics.

Indian Blood

The Indian race is not dying out, as many have supposed. It is growing—on the color fringes. The full-bloods are just holding their own. The mixed bloods are increasing at the rate of about 1,000 a year.

Here is another surprise. It used to be traditional that an Indian half-breed was "no good." Yet half-breeds are now turning into substantial citizens, successful farmers and capitalists. There are 43,000 Indians settled on farms, against 20,000 ten years ago, and western banks have $35,000,000 of Indian money.

The race will probably die out in time, just the same, not by extinction but by assimilation. The half-breeds marry more and more with the dominant whites, thinning the red strain in their blood. There are bound to be more and more mixed marriages of the full-bloods. Eventually the "redskins" will be gone, having added a little copper to the average American complexion and a little more calmness to the American character.

The Radio Mushroom

The radio industry may be regarded as about five years old. The Radio Corporation of America in 1920 sold $2,000,000 worth of receiving sets. Last year its sales were $300,000,000. The industry now employes 250,000 persons. It may be assumed that one family out of every 100 is supported by it. There are 4,000,000 receiving sets in use, with 600 broadcasting stations, furnishing information and entertainment to perhaps 16,000,000 Americans.

Never has any other industry had such a growth.

Other industries developing with mushroom speed have collapsed. There is no sign of the collapse of radio. It is probably only at the threshold of its achievement. One of these times, however, aviation may start and give both radio and motor industries "a run for their money."

Chicago expects to have 6,600,000 people by 1950. Anybody but a Chicagoan who has ever trodden Chicago sidewalks or driven Chicago streets or ridden in Chicago cars has some idea, however inadequate, or how dreadful that will be.

Von Hindenburg is finding that, whatever war may be, politics is Hades.

It won't take many more years of radio to make farmers keep city hours.

"Fines for jaywalkers" is the slogan of a new traffic reform movement. Which, as you might say, would be fine for motorists.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A Model Tourist Camp.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23.—The wanderlust season is upon us. This is evidenced by the number of out-of-town license tags on automobiles seen on the streets. Perhaps this is particularly apparent in Washington because sooner or later everyone who can possibly contrive to do so seems to head toward the National Capital. And this is the beginning of the open season for tourists. At this time the famous Japanese cherry trees are in full bloom along the Potomac speedway and around the tidal basin. Thousands of visitors come from all over the United States just to see them.

More and more people are traveling in automobiles now, both because it is cheaper and because they enjoy getting out into the open. And a larger proportion of these prefer to camp instead of stopping in hotels. Therefore tourist camps have sprung up all over the country. The one in East Potomac Park in Washington is considered one of the most complete.

The site of this camp is particularly advantageous. It overlooks the Potomac and is close to the public golf course. One who has traveled a hundred miles or so may until the bow knots by taking a turn around the golf course. Or if he feels like a little lazy diversion he may take the trusty fishing line, hang his feet over the sea wall and try his luck.

Formerly this tourist camp was leased to a concessionaire, but last year congress appropriated $50,000 to be used in putting up additional buildings and making a permanent camp. A further appropriation of $5,000 was made to cover the upkeep expenses. It is now under the supervision of the Office of Buildings and Public Parks.

The camp was not taken over by the government until the end of the last year, and as it was closed during the winter, not a great deal was done toward the carrying out of the ultimate plan that is being drafted. However, the drainage has been improved so that the tourist may be assured of a dry shelter even during a rainy period.

All Modern Conveniences.

This camp has all modern improvements including hot and cold water. A central laundry has been provided where Mrs. Tourist may "rinse out a few things." A space for drying these things has been enclosed by trees so that they may not be visible from the road and perchance distract the curious motorist so that he runs into another car or over the wall into the river.

Colonel C. O. Sherrill, who is in general charge, says that the other day when he was going through the central building a number of women who were doing some washing, and in the midst of this he was surprised to find a young man diligently curling his mother's hair. The colonel did not say whether she was having her hair curled while she washed, thus combining two operations much as is done in beauty parlors where one may be given a "facial" and manicure, or "wave" and manicure at the same time.

There are shower baths, and it is planned to put in more of these. There are also rest rooms, a grocery store, a lunch counter and a central recreation hall. At the grocery store, it has been said, may be purchased anything from a bottle of perfume to a bottle of coca cola.

In the recreation hall is an electric piano so that the campers may entertain themselves by singing or dancing if they so desire. There is also a radio so that the visitors need not exert himself at all in order to find entertainment.

Low Fees Are Charged.

Card playing is very popular although gambling is not permitted. One of the rules of the camp is that every one must be quiet after 11 o'clock. This probably seems early to most people, but those who are touring are apt to want to make an early start and therefore desire to turn in early in order to get their full quota of sleep so as to be fresh and alert for the morning drive.

The charge for camping space is very low. The rate is 50 cents a day for each car, regardless of the number of people traveling in it. This rate also covers the charge for a trailer. For 50 cents additional the traveler may obtain a tent with a wooden floor, two cots, a table and a chair.

Free firewood is furnished by the camp, and there are army buzacot field ovens which are for the use of the tourists. One of the plans for the permanent camp is to install a central kitchen where all of the cooking of the camp may be done.

The camp sites are arranged on symmetrical lots so that the camp may have a uniform appearance, and not appear from the road as a helter skelter jumble of cars, trailers and tents. The capacity of the camp at the present time is 500 cars and 2,500 people. The manager says that since March 1 there has been 1,000 persons registered. All motorists must register when they enter and check out when leaving.

When a car comes into the camp the manager meets it, gives the occupants an official welcome, takes the number and assigns them to their individual pot of ground where they may set up housekeeping.

Part of the official greeting is "Please read the rules." These are not oppressive. One must keep his dog tied and not allow him to wander around forming uncensored friendships and enmities. It is not permissible to indulge in speech-making unless given the special O. K. of the management, and you must not make your fellow tourists feel at home by deluging them with advertising material for some article in which you have a particular interest.

The camp is under constant police protection so that motorist need have no worry about losing spare tires, motometers, pots, pans, or any of their other belongings. Occasionally some will request that the manager check his valuables in the approved fashion of hotels. He is willing to do this but can not undertake to guarantee protection against loss, since as yet the camp has not installed a safe.

There is also a gasoline station within the camp grounds at which gas is sold at the standard rates. Really the camper can obtain practically everything he needs or desires within the confines of the camp itself, and need not risk getting lost in the more or less confusing avenues, squares and circles for which Washington is famous or notorius.

Of course modern tourist camps are springing up all over the country, and each community is apt to take particular pride in its own. There is a national interest in the one in Washington, because it is operated by the federal government, is located in the nation's capital, and sooner or later is apt to be the temporary home of almost any American.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 23.—I have been impressed recently with the change that has come to dentistry. New York now has several buildings given over exclusively to this profession. There are prim and alert office girls who relieve your nervousness with brisk conversation.

If one wants a tooth extracted he is directed to an extract. The chief dentist has several assistants who prepare the way for his skillful touch. The mechanical equipment are dazzling and intricate.

In my town there were two dentists—the proprietor of a barber shop and the leading veterinatian. Once in awhile we had an expert who came through town in his banjo-torched wagon selling Indian medicine and pulling teeth with his fingers free on the side.

When the old folk wanted a new set of teeth they measured their mouth with a string and sent it to a mail order house in Chicago. The opening of the first painless dentist parlor in our town was one of the big events in the community.

I remember Buck Webb, the livery stable proprietor, who had been without teeth for 30 years. His face closed up like a railroad time table folder and he ate all his meals with a spoon. He had a peculiar way of speaking. Some wit said he spoke Gum Arabic.

The painless dentist wanted to show what he could do with such a conspicuous subject and offered to outfit him free. The first day Buck wore them his turtle face had become horsey. His new set of crockery revealed delicate pink gums.

Buck went proudly home. His wife, who lived across the railroad tracks, was a timid soul and afraid of tramps and beggars. When Buck went in the gate she took one look at him and went screaming through the back yard. The dog came out from under the house and bit Buck in the leg. And it was the first time in 30 years Buck had been able to bite back.

I wonder, too, what has become of the itinerant piano tuner who came to small towns with the first touch of spring. He had long hair and a soulful expression and was looked upon as an artist. He would sit for hours zinging the keys and tightening the strings. He was called Professor. The other day I had need for a piano tuner. I had to talk to his secretary for an appointment. An assistant came with his mechanical necessities. The tuner himself arrived later—an elegante in yellow gloves, Bond street clothes and walking stick. He insisted no one must enter the room while he was at work. He made a charge of $10 which was the first and biggest payment made on the piano.

Speaking of dentistry and teeth, Arnold Bennett, the English novelist, on his last visit here displayed a pivot tooth in front that was quite the wonder of those who met him. In moments of repose the novelist had a habit of touching the finger to it and twisting it around. It had all the fascination of a loose tooth—and what is more fascinating?—and also the lure of roulette. You watched him twist it about and wondered whether it would stop on the black or on the white. One evening at a dinner, George Buchanan Fife, the writer, sat across from Bennett. He, too, was fascinated. Afterward he said he supposed that in England you bought a tooth much in the manner a bachelor does a theatre ticket. You plank down your money and say: "Give me a good one, way down front!"

The Tuxedo suits for evening, a replica of the male idea, that are being worn by the ladies of Paris are finding little favor here. So far only one has been seen in the cafes. She wore the stiff shirt front with standing collar, a white vest and a black bow tie. She is a show girl and nightly in her play by way of contrast she wears a plume and a smile.

PENNSY UNCERTAIN ABOUT TRAINS FOR POTTERS' PICNIC AT IDORA PARK

Company Refers to Lack of "Parking Space" at Youngstown in Negotiations With N. B. O. P. Committee.

The Pennsylvania railroad company's inability to furnish excursion trains from East Liverpool has placed a stumbling block in the way of the committee arranging the first annual picnic and reunion of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which will be held at Idora park, Youngstown on Saturday, June 6.

When the Youngstown resort was selected as the place for the outing, assurances were given by the Pennsylvania railroad company that arrangements could be made to operate excursion trains from all pottery centers. R. M. Flocker, Pittsburgh division passenger agent, has notified the committee that because of the lack of parking space at Youngstown and the necessity of keeping the track open for regular freight trains that the question of excursion trains is problematical. Youngstown business men assert there is ample parking space for excursion trains in the Youngstown yards.

Mr. Flocker has promised to take the proposition up with passenger agent at Cleveland in an effort to provide trains from the local district. Should the railroad company fail to furnish special trains, it is likely that arrangements for special cars will be made with Youngstown & Ohio River railroad officials.

The committee in charge of sports, consisting of William Ashbaugh, William Watkin and Joseph Dickey, has arranged a program which includes a baseball game, horse shoe pitching contests, swimming races, bowling tournaments, marble contests and spelling matches, etc. Cash prizes for first, second and third place winners will be awarded.

Potters and their families from East Liverpool, Newell, Sebring, Chester, Wellsville, Steubenville, Salem, Niles, Wheeling, East Palestine New Castle, Canonsburg, Kittanning, Carrollton, Scio, Salineville and other pottery centers will attend the affair.

Tip For Beginners.

Solve this puzzle by comparing the synonyms listed in the "Horizontal" and "Vertical" columns with the number of spaces extending crosswise or downward on the diagram, as the case may be. If a word occurs to you meaning substantially the same as the synonym and the correct number of letters to fit in the spaces between its number and the first shaded stop following, write it in lightly. Work away the small words, the "easy" words, first, and they will give you plenty of clues to the difficult ones.

BRITISH ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED 'DOPED BY DOLE'

More Than 1,200,000 Draw Government Compensation.

INSURANCE ACT

No Party Can be Held to Blame for Condition.

LONDON.—England's army of unemployed is a passive army "dopped by the dole," according to Sir John Simon.

England now has a permanent army of about 1,200,000 unhappy people who are subsidized by the government, receiving regular allowances from the government solely on the condition that they have no work to do.

"This army has grown so familiar that sometimes we are hardly conscious of its menace," Sir John said.

"When the armistice was signed the government visualized exceptional unemployment for a short period only, whereas exceptional unemployment has continued ever since and now threatens to become chronic."

Insurance Act.

The Insurance Act of 1911 was a measure which provided that workmen should pay weekly sums to protect themselves against unemployment. This was an insurance measure in the true sense of the word, based on actuarial calculations, and funds were built up, during the good-trade period, for use during periods of bad trade. There was a reserve fund of $110,000,000 when the Insurance Act of 1920 was passed to protect post-war unemployed.

Today, instead of a reserve fund, the insurance scheme is in debt to the government for some $30,000,000 and has actually paid interest on Treasury loans to the extent of nearly $4,000,000.

No government or party can be held to blame for this condition of affairs, as is shown by the following figures: There were 1,267,675 unemployed when the Tory government went out of office in 1924 and Labor took over the reins of government; there were 1,021,000 unemployed when the Labor government gave up office on November 10, 1924; there were 1,219,200 unemployed in March, after the present Tory government had been in power for five months.

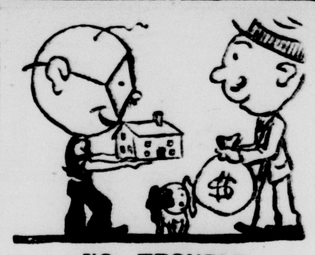

"On the Dole."

It is estimated that more than one-half of those who are "on the dole," drawing unemployment benefit, are persons who have never paid sufficient mony from their wages to make them true members of the insurance scheme.

It is also estimated that there are at least 800,000 boys and girls who are unemployed and have been unemployed ever since leaving school."

"Most striking of all thes trange facts of our age," said Sir John Simon, "seems to me to be this—the extraordinary calmness with which our people have endured this scourge. There was no previous age in which this could have happened.

"It has happened because, if we tell the truth, dole is dope. What we have done is to chloroform a large part of the body politic. We have dulled their desire to cry out and resist by a continual application of doses of chloroform, which, unless used for a temporary emergency, saps the vitality and undermines the power for useful work."

GORE VETOES BOXING BILL

Governor's Action is Upheld in Lower House.

Hopes in sporting circles for legalizing boxing matches at which admission was charged were blighted last night when Governor Howard M. Gore vetoed the so-called "boxing bill" on which those hopes were based, and the house by a strong majority refused to override his veto.

Governor Gore had the measure in his possession but 30 minutes, when he returned it to the legislature with his disapproval.

In his veto message to the legislature, Governor Gore declared that whatever his personal beliefs were as to the merits of the boxing bill he felt that the majority of the people of the state were opopsed to it and that therefore he did not approve it.

The house vote showed only 21 members desiring to repass the bill over the governor's veto, while 62 voted against such action. Discussion on the veto message and the bill was brief, but included references to a statement by Judge George W. McClinitc to the grand jury in United States district court, criticizing the legislature for passing the bill. Delegate Cogar, who had been one of the active champions of the measure when it was first before the house, declared he resented criticism of the American Legion's position on the bill, and that the statement was beneath the dignity of a federal judge. Delegate Street, explaining that he did not believe in overriding the governor's veto and voted against that action, said he would be willing to vote for a resolution reproving the judge.

SENATE PASSES GAS TAX BILL

MINING REVISION LAW IS PASSED

Revision of the mining law of the state which experts believe will help to prevent mine accidents got the attention of both branches of the legislature yesterday and both passed the bill incorporating these changes in quick time and with negligible opposition.

After this action had been reported to the senate, that body suspended its rules and hastened to pass the measure, unchanged, bu the unanimous vote of 27 senators present.

BRITAIN FACES SHORTAGE OF SKILLED LABOR

Emigration Has Sapped Isles of Men Who Are Trained.

BUILDING HIT

Many Complaints Made by Industries; Cannot Carry On.

WASHINGTON—Great Britain is faced with a serious shortage of skilled laborers through emigration to outlying portions of the empire and to non-British countries, according to information received by the department of commerce.

Originally emigrantion was encouraged as a means of relief to the unemployment situation in the British Isles, and to man industry and agriculture in the colonies; but apparently the promoters of the scheme have overshot their mark, the exodus of skilled labor being a matter of grave concern to British observers.

In promoting the emigration scheme it was soon discovered that the British colonies did not welcome unskilled and ordinary workmen, but preferred individuals with some means and genuine ambition and ability. Great Britain, on the other hand, desires to retain the skilled and ambitious men for her own industries.

Many Complaints.

Complaints are heard from some industries that they cannot carry on because of the lack of skilled workmen who have left the country.

"The building trades," the department said, "assert they cannot execute existing plans nor relieve the housing shortage because so many of the skilled carpenters, masons and others have emigrated to the United States. Even to execute the limited project it is estimated that an additional 11,700 bricklayers, 7,800 carpenters and joiners, 7,800 slaters, roofers and plasterers, 6,800 masons, painters, plumbers and gasfitters and 25,000 unskilled laborers are needed."

These figures are thought to represent the emigration of the skilled workers in the building trades in the last few years, an exodus which has crippled the building industry in Great Britain.

Department of commerce experts said that 256,284 British subjects took up permanent residence in non-European countries in 1923; and while figures were not available for 1924, it was thought that the figure increased. Record emigration was in 1913, when 389,395 persons departed. Of the 1923 figure 93,076 departures were for the United States.

Young Emigrees.

More than half of the emigrant loss as accounted for by persons between the ages of 18 and 30 years. Agriculturists lead, with 20.1 per cent of the total in 1923. In the skilled trades the number increased in all classes, the most noticeable proportional increase being in the metal and engineering groups. The percentage in the commercial, financial and insurance group fell. Among the female emigrants over 18 years of age nearly half were wives, and the majority of the rest were in domestic or hotel service.

"One of the main reasons for the exodus of skilled workers is the disturbed and unsettled industrial situation, particularly in the engineering and building trades, coupled with the high proportion of unemployment," the department was informed.

"Attempts will be made to encourage emigration to relieve unemployment, but at the same time some effort will be made to equalize cost of living and wages in order to encourage skilled labor to remain at home."

POEMS THAT LIVE

Stanzas from in Memoriam.

I envy not in any moods
The captive void of noble rage,
The linnet born within the cage,
That never knew the summer woods;

I envy not the beast that takes
His license in the fields of time,
Unfettered by the sense of crime,
To whom a conscience never wakes;

Nor, what may count itself as blest,
The heart that never plighted troth,
But stagnates in the weeds of sloth;
Nor any want-begotten rest.

I hold it true, whate'er befall;
I feel it when I sorrow most;
'Tis better to have loved and lost
Than never to have loved at all.

Don't Squeeze Black-Heads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of calonite powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.

Is Housework Keeping You Tired and Weak?

Thousands of tired, nervous, rundown women who must daily perform exhausting housework and care for children, would be astonished to learn that in most instances their fatigue, headaches, nervousness and haggard appearance are now entirely unnecessary.

For physicians say that in an enormous number of cases these symptoms are due merely to the lack of sufficient iron in the blood. And now that Science has perfected a new combination of iron, like the iron in the blood, it is, in many cases, easily possible for people to increase their strength, nerve force and endurance in only two weeks time.

Any doctor will tell you that without sufficient organic iron, your blood loses its power to change food into firm, healthy flesh and tissue. So nothing you eat does you the proper amount of good. You become undernourished, weak, nervous, and lacking in physical force and endurance.

What you need, then, is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to enrich your blood and give you strength. For Nuxated Iron is organic iron, like the iron in your own blood. Try it just two weeks and notice the astonishing improvement. Money back if not delighted. But be sure you get genuine Nuxated Iron, with the letters NI on every tablet. This is the only kind sold under this absolute money-back guarantee. At all good druggists.

Ancient Jap Forts Will be Replaced By Bathing Beaches

TOKYO, April — Another stronghold of ancient Japan is about to fall before the onslaughts of this modern age.

Lying off the Shinagawa shore of Tokyo, are several island-like mounds, rising out of the sea. These are old fortresses, built ages ago by the Tokugawa Shogunate to repel foreign ships that might try to attack Yedo, the capital of the Shoguns. They have been obsolete for decades, but the old Japanese law, which debars the public from going near a fortification, has kept people away from them.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased some. In a few days I got relief, and after using three cakes of Soap and one and a half boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Harry Goble, Lexington, Nebr., July 5, 1924.

Is Housework Keeping You Tired and Weak?

Thousands of tired, nervous, rundown women who must daily perform exhausting housework and care for children, would be astonished to learn that in most instances their fatigue, headaches, nervousness and haggard appearance are now entirely unnecessary.

For physicians say that in an enormous number of cases these symptoms are due merely to the lack of sufficient iron in the blood. And now that Science has perfected a new combination of iron, like the iron in the blood, it is, in many cases, easily possible for people to increase their strength, nerve force and endurance in only two weeks time.

Any doctor will tell you that without sufficient organic iron, your blood loses its power to change food into firm, healthy flesh and tissue. So nothing you eat does you the proper amount of good. You become undernourished, weak, nervous, and lacking in physical force and endurance.

What you need, then, is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to enrich your blood and give you strength. For Nuxated Iron is organic iron, like the iron in your own blood. Try it just two weeks and notice the astonishing improvement. Money back if not delighted. But be sure you get genuine Nuxated Iron, with the letters NI on every tablet. This is the only kind sold under this absolute money-back guarantee. At all good druggists.

ENGLAND FEARS ART TREASURES WILL BE LOST

Americans Expected to Buy Cream of Famous Paintings.

DARNLEY SALE

London Collection Will go on Auction Block Soon.

ROCHESTER, England — English lovers of art are aroused lest more treasures are going to the United States.

The Earl of Darnley has decided to sell some paintings that for many years have hung on the famous walls of Cobham Hall, where Charles I began his honeymoon.

This collection of paintings was formed by the fourth Earl of Darnley, who was a friend of Reynolds, Gainsborough and Hopper.

The pictures offered for sale will include four pictures by Sir Joshua Reynolds, for by Gainsborough, five by Titian and one by Giorgione.

Americans There.

Only two years ago an American collector paid $500,000 for two works by Reynolds, and English patrons hear that American connoisseurs are to be present and will participate in the bidding when these picture are put up for auction.

The largest of the Gainsboroughs is a canvas 93 inches by 57 inches with portraits of Lord John and Lord Bernard Stuart, after Van Dyck. The two lads are dressed in the fashion of the doublet and breeches period and stand together near a pedestal. The picture was acquired by Lord Darnley's ancestor from Gainsborough's widow.

A smaller portrait also to be offered is that of Mrs. William Monck, sister of the first Earl of Darnley. She is shown in a white silk dress cut low at the neck and wearing three rows of pearls round her neck, pearl earrings and pearls in her hair.

Reynolds Pictures.

The Reynolds' pictures to be included in the sale are:

General Hon. Edward Bligh, painted in 1787.

John, third Earl of Darnley, painted 1761.

Mrs. Gore, of Woodford, painted 1761.

The Calling of Samuel.

Of the Titians the most notable are a picture of the Saviour and a Venus and Adonis.

The Giorgione picture represents Caesar in robes, seated on a dais and receiving the head of Pompey. It is on a panel 26⅛ inches by 107½ inches.

This will undoubtedly be the most notable art sale in England this year.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Cautious Lover.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a woman of 24 with two children. I have separated from my husband. At the age of 16 I was forced by my mother to marry a man I did not love. I have lived with him for eight years and he has been a brute to me. His ways have only made me hate him more. I stayed with him as long as I did because I had two brothers who made their home with me. They were so good to me I just worshiped them. My husband was jealous because I loved them so much. Last summer I met a man whom I love dearly. I think he loves me too except at times. He will do anything in the world for me. He writes to me and at times we have met, but he is afraid to go out. He is not afraid of my husband, but he does not want to get into trouble. He says we will see more of each other later. I am getting a divorce. Please tell me whether you think he cares and has respect for me.

BROKEN-HEARTED.

The chances are that the man is merely enjoying a flirtation with you. He is playing safe in not wanting to be seen with you for his own sake just as much or more than yours. Probably after you have obtained your divorce you will find him full of new excuses. My answer to your problem is not the least bit encouraging. You might just as well be prepared for the worst, however, as that no matter what come you will be ready for it. Do not make your love for the man too evident because he will be less apt to appreciate you.

Rebellious Daughter.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl in my teens. I go to high school and have many nice girl and boy friends. Quite a few of the boys have asked to take me out but I can't go because of my parents. One night I went to a game with two other girls and then to a show and didn't get in until 11:30. My parents were very angry and now just because of that forbidden pleasure of going to the show I can't even step out of the house except to go to school. I can't even go to my girl friend's house and the only time I get out is Sunday afternoon and that is very seldom. I think keeping girls in lige this is the reason "Why girls leave home." I would be very glad to hear from you.

BLUE EYES.

When a girl in her late teens or early twenties is unduly restrained by her parents, she is apt to leave home provided she has work which would agine, however, that your parents enable her to live elsewhere. I imwere not entirely unreasonable in feeling alarm because you did not get home when they expected. Now you will have to regain their confidence, and it cannot be done by showing resentment toward them. As soon as they believe they have taught you a lesson and you are to be trusted, they will give you more freedom. It always pays for a girl to take her parents into her confidence; unhappiness is sure to follow deceit.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been keeping company with a young man two years my senior. I love him and feel sure of his love for me. A man about 52 has moved to our town. He is rich and my folks insist that I marry him. I have pleaded and argued but it is of no use. I feel sure that I could never be happy with this man, as he too old for me and I do not love him. Would it be all right to run off and marry the man I love,

JACK.

Do not marry a man you do not or should I do as my parents say?

love, but do not act hastily. To run off and marry would be a mistake if the young man you love is not in a position to marry yet. Make the best of conditions at home until you know it would be right to marry.

Married on a Dare!

This country, which considers itself so moral and upright, has the loosest marriage regulations of any nation on earth. Savages probably have more respect for the sanctity of wedlock. Such marriages as the one described in the letter below are all too common in many states.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a young man 23 years old badly in need of advice. I married a girl in another state only three days after I met her. It was a loveless marriage. Two couples were out on a "party" and when the other couple dared us to get married with them, neither of us would back out, and so we were married. My wife comes of a good family, and is a nice girl, except that she is too much a flapper. I didn't live any time with her hardly, and I haven't seen her in about eight months. I admit I do not love her, but believe I could learn to, but I'm afraid she wont' live with me any more. I think she married me under the impression I was wealthy, and I believe she wants more support than I would be able to give her. What shall I do? E. J. S.

Since there is no love between you, and the marriage was brought about under such absurb circumstances, I certainly would not advise you to consider yourself her husband. You two should consult a lawyer regarding a divorce. If the girl is under age, her parents can institute annulment proceedings.

Safety in Numbers.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl of just 16. My father has been sick for over a year with a brain disease. He seems to think I should have a steady fellow instead of different fellows for friends. My mother seems to think I shouldn't go around with any boys. Of course, she lets me go once in a while.

What would be your advice? Should I go with one steady fellow or with different ones? LILLIAN.

Your mother is quite right in considering you too young to go with boys except once in a while. Since you are so young let her pass her approval on your friends and also be the judge of the places you go.

Your father is probably worried about you because of his poor health and feels that you are too wild or you would not have so many friends. Do not give up good friends who are worth keeping, but on the other hand be most cautious in your choice of friends, not wasting your time with undesirables. A girl of 16 is far too young to go with one boy exclusively. There is safety in numbers because there is less danger of taking love too seriously. At the age of 16 several good friends are better than one lover.

Old Enough for Beaux.

B. & L.—Since you are 18 and 20 years of age you are old enough to have young men friends. Automobile rides at night are certainly dangerous, but I can see no harm in rides to church and definite places. Of course everything depends on your own conduct and the kind of friends you choose.

Disappointed Man—In my opinion you did exactly the right thing. The girl's nature is brutal. Since such an exhibition was painful to you, it is evident that you need a wife of more gentle tendencies.

Lovesick—You certainly have reason to fear that the young man's love for you is less ardent.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenrhu, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

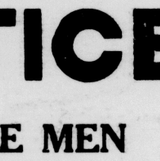

James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenrhu, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of any one's money unless Allenrhu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance.

East Liverpool druggists are my appointed agents in your city. If you live out of town I'll gladly send you free particulars.

SICK WOMEN ATTENTION!

Read this Remarkable Testimony Regarding Results from Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Norfolk, Virginia.—"If you only knew how many women and girls have taken your medicine by hearing my testimony, it would seem wonderful to you. Every day and every chance I have I advise some one to try it. It was in June, 1904, when I had given up to never get well, that I wrote to you. My husband went to the drug-store and brought the Vegetable Compound home to me. In a few days I began to improve and I have often taken it since. I am now passing through the Change of Life and still stick by it and am enjoying wonderful health. When I first started with your medicines I was a mere shadow. My health seemed to be gone. The last doctor I had said he would give me no more local treatments unless I went to the Hospital and was operated on. That was when I gave the doctors up. Now I am a healthy robust woman. I wish I could tell the world what a wonderful medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is. I will be only too glad to answer letters from anywhere. I wish all sick women would take it."—Mrs. J. A. Jones, 317 Colley Avenue, Norfolk, Virginia.

Why age your face by wrong cleansing?

Many a complexion loses its bloom early because of poor cleansers that don't clear out the skin-blighting accumulations, or because of harsh soap that roughens the skin. A safe measure is to wash your face every night with pure, mild Sweetheart Soap because it makes a real lather that really cleanses, but does it gently. The finest kind of white, pure soap and low priced.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS
By Mrs. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Cautious Lover.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a woman of 24 with two children. I have separated from my husband. At the age of 16 I was forced by my mother to marry a man I did not love. I have lived with him for eight years and he has been a brute to me. His ways have only made me hate him more. I stayed with him as long as I did because I had two brothers who made their home with me. They were so good to me I just worshiped them. My husband was jealous because I loved them so much. Last summer I met a man whom I love dearly. I think he loves me too except at times. He will do anything in the world for me. He writes to me and at times we have met, but he is afraid to go out. He is not afraid of my husband, but he does not want to get into trouble. He says we will see more of each other later. I am getting a divorce. Please tell me whether you think he cares and has respect for me.

BROKEN-HEARTED.

The chances are that the man is merely enjoying a flirtation with you. He is playing safe in not wanting to be seen with you for his own sake just as much or more than yours. Probably after you have obtained your divorce you will find him full of new excuses. My answer to your problem is not the least bit encouraging. You might just as well be prepared for the worst, however, as that no matter what come you will be ready for it. Do not make your love for the man too evident because he will be less apt to appreciate you.

Rebellious Daughter.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl in my teens. I go to high school and have many nice girl and boy friends. Quite a few of the boys have asked to take me out but I can't go because of my parents. One night I went to a game with two other girls and then to a show and didn't get in until 11:30. My parents were very angry and now just because of that forbidden pleasure of going to the show I can't even step out of the house except to go to school. I can't even go to my girl friend's house and the only time I get out is Sunday afternoon and that is very seldom. I think keeping girls in lige this is the reason "Why girls leave home." I would be very glad to hear from you.

BLUE EYES.

When a girl in her late teens or early twenties is unduly restrained by her parents, she is apt to leave home provided she has work which would agine, however, that your parents enable her to live elsewhere. I imwere not entirely unreasonable in feeling alarm because you did not get home when they expected. Now you will have to regain their confidence, and it cannot be done by showing re? sentment toward them. As soon as they believe they have taught you a lesson and you are to be trusted, they will give you more freedom. It always pays for a girl to take her parents into her confidence; unhappiness is sure to follow deceit.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been keeping company with a young man two years my senior. I love him and feel sure of his love for me. A man about 52 has moved to our town. He is rich and my folks insist that I marry him. I have pleaded and argued but it is of no use. I feel sure that I could never be happy with this man, as he too old for me and I do not love him. Would it be all right to run off and marry the man I love,

JACK.

Do not marry a man you do not or should I do as my parents say?

love, but do not act hastily. To run off and marry would be a mistake if the young man you love is not in a position to marry yet. Make the best of conditions at home until you know it would be right to marry.

Married on a Dare!

This country, which considers itself so moral and upright, has the loosest marriage regulations of any nation on earth. Savages probably have more respect for the sanctity of wedlock. Such marriages as the one described in the letter below are all too common in many states.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a young man 23 years old badly in need of advice. I married a girl in another state only three days after I met her. It was a loveless marriage. Two couples were out on a "party" and when the other couple dared us to get married with them, neither of us would back out, and so we were married. My wife comes of a good family, and is a nice girl, except that she is too much a flapper. I didn't live any time with her hardly, and I haven't seen her in about eight months. I admit I do not love her, but believe I could learn to, but I'm afraid she wont' live with me any more. I think she married me under the impression I was wealthy, and I believe she wants more support than I would be able to give her. What shall I do? E. J. S.

Since there is no love between you, and the marriage was brought about under such absurb circumstances, I certainly would not advise you to consider yourself her husband. You two should consult a lawyer regarding a divorce. If the girl is under age, her parents can institute annulment proceedings.

Safety in Numbers.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl of just 16. My father has been sick for over a year with a brain disease. He seems to think I should have a steady fellow instead of different fellows for friends. My mother seems to think I shouldn't go around with any boys. Of course, she lets me go once in a while.

What would be your advice? Should I go with one steady fellow or with different ones? LILLIAN.

Your mother is quite right in considering you too young to go with boys except once in a while. Since you are so young let her pass her approval on your friends and also be the judge of the places you go.

Your father is probably worried about you because of his poor health and feels that you are too wild or you would not have so many friends. Do not give up good friends who are worth keeping, but on the other hand be most cautious in your choice of friends, not wasting your time with undesirables. A girl of 16 is far too young to go with one boy exclusively. There is safety in numbers because there is less danger of taking love too seriously. At the age of 16 several good friends are better than one lover.

Old Enough for Beaux.

B. & L.—Since you are 18 and 20 years of age you are old enough to have young men friends. Automobile rides at night are certainly dangerous, but I can see no harm in rides to church and definite places. Of course everything depends on your own conduct and the kind of friends you choose.

Disappointed Man—In my opinion you did exactly the right thing. The girl's nature is brutal. Since such an exhibition was painful to you, it is evident that you need a wife of more gentle tendencies.

Lovesick—You certainly have reason to fear that the young man's love for you is less ardent.

Why age your face by wrong cleansing?

Many a complexion loses its bloom early because of poor cleansers that don't clear out the skin-blighting accumulations, or because of harsh soap that roughens the skin. A safe measure is to wash your face every night with pure, mild Sweetheart Soap because it makes a real lather that really cleanses, but does it gently. The finest kind of white, pure soap and low priced.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenrhu, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenrhu, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of any one's money unless Allenrhu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance.

East Liverpool druggists are my appointed agents in your city. If you live out of town I'll gladly send you free particulars.

SICK WOMEN ATTENTION!

Read this Remarkable Testimony Regarding Results from Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Norfolk, Virginia. — "If you only knew how many women and girls have taken your medicine by hearing my testimony, it would seem wonderful to you. Every day and every chance I have I advise some one to try it. It was in June, 1904, when I had given up to never get well, that I wrote to you. My husband went to the drug-store and brought the Vegetable Compound home to me. In a few days I began to improve and I have often taken it since. I am now passing through the Change of Life and still stick by it and am enjoying wonderful health. When I first started with your medicines I was a mere shadow. My health seemed to be gone. The last doctor I had said he would give me no more local treatments unless I went to the Hospital and was operated on. That was when I gave the doctors up. Now I am a healthy robust woman. I wish I could tell the world what a wonderful medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is. I will be only too glad to answer letters from anywhere. I wish all sick women would take it."—Mrs. J. A. JONES, 317 Colley Avenue, Norfolk, Virginia.

THE man from whom you buy tires is just as important to you as the kind of tire you buy. For real tire performance, you need not only the skill and care of the manufacturer, but the attention and service of an experienced service organization.

This man is the Lancaster Certified Merchant—the one tire merchant in this community chosen to sell Lancaster Cord Tires. He is a picked man, selected for responsibility and standing and willingness to serve you in every way possible.

In this man's display room hangs a signed and sealed certificate from The Lancaster Tire and Rubber Company as evidence that this service station has passed our rigid standards. It means that tire and merchant may alike be counted on beyond usual measure.

Look for this sign and buy from the man who displays it. It will pay.

John Lumpkins, Dayton, Ohio, says: "Come to 7 Carrie St., and I will show you 25 pieces of gravel that passed after taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). Had to get up 15 times at night for two years. Alright now." Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder like Epsom Salts do the bowels, thereby relieving irritation, driving out foreign matter and neutralizing excessive acids. These are the causes of unnatural action of the bladder at night. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) is not a cheap medicine. The tablets cost 2 cents each. Sold at leading drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at J. D. Holloway. adv.

Nazarene Church Basement May be Occupied Sunday

Basement of the new Church of the Nazarene, corner Lincoln and St. Clair avenues, probably will be occupied Sunday, Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the church, announced today.

Carpenters this week are engaged in laying the floor on the room.

The main auditorium will not likely be ready for occupancy before the middle of June. The church pews will be shipped on or about June 5.

The finishing wood work is now being installed. A composition floor will be laid as soon as the carpenters complete their work. The interior walls will not be decorated for the time being, at least.

Work on the building was started early last fall. The congregation has been holding its week-end services in the high school auditorium.

Girls! Have Pretty Eyes

No girl is pretty if her eyes are red, strained or have dark rings. Simple camphor, witchhazel, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash, keeps eyes healthy, sparkling and vivacious. Dainty eye cup free. Economy Drug Store, Sixth and Broadway.

Here's Guaranteed Relief for Stiff, Sore, Swollen Joints

Soaks right into tendons and ligaments of your joints—right where the trouble starts—Then Blessed comfort comes quickly.

Yes; it's true—the world progresses. All you have to do nowadays to limber up that stiff, rusty knee joint is to squeeze a half inch of miracle working substance from a tube.

Then rub it on the offending part for about a minute or until it soaks through the skin and disappears on its errand of mercy.

Then read the evening newspapers and go to bed.

The chances are that your misbehaving knee joint will lose its "creak" while you are dreaming about the high fences you used to leap when you were a youngster.

"And in the morning," says one who has tried the new discovery, "you'll feel so happy that you'll want to jump into your sportiest clothes and walk briskly down the street just to show the neighbors that you were not as old as they think you are."

Joint-Ease they call this wonder working substance, for the reason that when ordinary remedies fail to limber up the stiff, inflamed rheumatic joint, or reduce the swelling, Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's a good name for a good, clean penetrating prescription that in just a few months has proven to a multitude of people that lame, swollen, distorted joints can speedily have the kinks taken out of them and work as smoothly as ever.

But Joint-Ease is for bothersome joints, whether in knee, ankle, arch, hip, shoulder, spine or finger, and for that purpose its sale at 60 cents a tube is immense.

Jesse D. Holloway and Mathews Medicine Store has a big supply of it and druggists everywhere report a big demand.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint misery gets out—quick—and money back if it fails.

Rickard Is Dempsey's Choice of Promoter For Next Bout

Champion In Gotham to Confer With Tex Before Trip Abroad

Will Also Pay Unofficial Visit to Boxing Commission Where he Probably Will Have Some Questions to Answer.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Jack Dempsey, the well known bridegroom, arriving in New York today, faced the inevitable showdown on his intentions toward Harry Wills and the boxing game in general. Besieged alike by promoters and gentlemen of the press, the champion knows that he must answer a lot of embarrassing questions, and according to advance information supplied by one of his local yes-men, was prepared to meet the situation head-on.

"Dempsey will confer with only one promoter while here," read a statement from Joe Woodman, acting as one of Dempsey's several representatives. That promoter is Tex Rickard and none other. If he ever fights again, the champion will insist upon Rickard as the sponsor of the enterprise, Jack Kearns' ideas to the contrary.

The latter has a theory that it might be well to do business with Charles L. Henderson and this fact clearly indicates how far apart Dempsey and Kearns have drifted.

In this connection, it is significant that Dempsey will talk to Rickard without the advice and counsel of Kearns.

A visit to the boxing commission, which recently issued an edict declaring Dempsey null and void because he didn' accept Wills' challenge, is also on the champion's program. The visit will be strictly unofficial, yet he must be prepared to face some official interrogations. He cannot fight in this state until he has disposed of Wills, and all local promoters have been enjoined from negotiating for his services. The commission, therefore, will want to ask some friendly questions to which it may think itself entitled to a friendly answer.

Any fight conversation between Rickard and Dempsey, of course, must and will be strictly sub rosa on account of the board's proclamation. They might even come to a definite understanding, yet it would be difficult for any one to prove that they weren't discussing a five letter word, meaning ink on the blackboard.

The champion's visit, ostensibly, is to finish a picture in collaboration with Estelle Taylor Dempsey and then depart on a honeymoon tour of Europe with the collaborato. In this connection one thing is certain:

If Dempsey goes to Europe there will be no heavyweight championship fight this year. There is all too little time at his disposal and too much uncertainty about his intentions as it is.

ST. LOUIS, April 23.—Piling up eleven runs in the first inning, the St. Louis Cardinals easily defeated the Cincinnati Reds yesterday, 12 to 3, in the first National league game here this season. Fifteen Rickey men every player made at least one hit. Holm, Hornsby and Bottomley got two each.

Donahue, Sheehan and Dibut were batted out.

Giants' Initial Home Victory Pleases Fans

NEW YORK, April 23.—The New York Giants opened their home season yesterday with a 6 to 5 victory over Boston before 30,000 fans. The game was preceded by the raising of the National league pennant won by New York last year, and the golden jubilee flag, emblematic of the senior circuit's fiftieth anniversary.

In the ninth inning the Boston infield collapsed behind the splendid pitching of John Cooney. With the score tied Walker singled, Burrus threw wild on Frisch's sacrifice bunt and then fumbled another sacrifice by Young, filling the bases. Bancroft's fumble of Kelly's grounder permitted Walker to score the winning run.

SPORT SPARKS

New York may lead the world in automobile fatalities, but Chicago and Philadelphia are unsurpassed in baseball accidents.

The Boston Red Sox are not going anywhere this year and do not care how soon they get there.

In predicting pennant winners this year practically every sporting writer in the country has overlooked the possibility that the Phillies may finish sixth.

Jawn has been giving his aging veterans the gate with a certain regularity of late. In a few years the oldest player on the team may be Young.

GARFIELD WINS BY SINGLE RUN

The Garfield nine defeated the Rinkeydinks yesterday afternoon at Columbian park. The score was 3 to 2.

The game was fast and brought out good baseball on both sides. Except for the third and fourth innings, the Rinkeydinks outclassed their opponents.

But these two innings were enough for the Garfields. A walk, an error and single in the third enabled Harris to score for Garfield. Fullerton came home on a hit by Knight.

On a two-bagger, Ferelo got on in the fourth for Garfield and went home on a single.

Machen and Hanlon scored for the Rinkeydinks in the second.

The teams lined up as follows: Rinkeydinks—Callahan, C. Hobbs, Banks, R. Hanlon, L. Hobbs, Machen, Wines, Greenwood. L. Hanlon and Wilson. Garfield — Knight, Garwood, Lisk, Johnson, Ferelo, Heath, Ward, Harris and Fullerton.

Pirates are Victors In Home Card Opener

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—The Pitts-Pittsburgh Pirates celebrated the opening of the home season by swamping Chicago, 6 to 1, while more than 30,000 fans looked on. Morrison held the Cubs to five hits.

Twice Koufmann passed Smith to get at Morrison, but the Pirate hurler each time made a two-base hit. Niehaus, at first, made his big league debut. He played a fast and steady game.

Brooklyn Errors Aid Phillies in Winning

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—The Phillies opened their home series yesterday by defeating Brooklyn, 8 to 7. The Dodgers hit four Philadelphia pitchers for a total of 17 bases, but four errors by the visitors proved costly. Philadelphia piled up an early lead.

The government has had a tough time collecting reparations, but it is reported that quite a few of the boys collected on Reparation when the old fellow breezed home at 4 to 1 recently.

CORBETT WINS FROM MASCART

Cleveland Feather Awarded Decision on Foul.

CLEVELAND, April 23. — Al Corbett, Cleveland featherweight, today sports the European featherweight championship, the result of his bout here last night with Edouard Mascart of Belgium, holder of the title.

Corbett's victory came in the ninth round, when he was fouled three times in rapid succession by Mascart. At that time the Clevelander was far ahead on points, and the result of the bout was an assured victory for Corbett.

Referee Mat Hinkel twice warned the Belgian that his blows were too low, then as the third blow was delivered, gave the fight to Corbett. As a result of his victory, Corbett's manager plans to seek an early fight with Louis "Kid" Kaplan for the world's title.

In the semi-final, Mascart's stable mate, Rene Devose, Belgian middleweight champion, easily outpointed Tommy Burns of Detroit in eight rounds.

Rube Walberg Enacts Relief Hurler's Role

BOSTON, April 23.—Rube Walberg did well as a relief pitcher for the Athletics in the American league opener yesterday and Philadelphia defeated Boston, 6 to 5, in eleven innings. What proved the winning run came in when Hale walked and Simmons doubled off Wingfield in the eleventh.

In the tenth Boston had the bases full and none out, but did not score. Veach made a homer with two men on bases off Rommel in the sixth.

Ever since John McGraw got past the game warden with Childe Lindstrom, the big league scouts have been picking them younger and younger. Soon no cradle in the land will be safe.

Dundee Opened Historic Arena and He'll Be There at the Finish

The last fight to be held in the historic Madison Square Garden, New York city, before that building is torn down, will be staged May 5. Johnny Dundee, now a fading old veteran, will meet Sid Terris. Dundee was in Terris' shoes—with the future before him—when he signed to fight in the first show staged in the garden when it was opened to the boxing game years ago.

Tagging The Bases

Chicago fans presented Eddie Collins with gifts as he made his home debut as manager and then loose fielding by the Tigers made it unanimous by presenting Eddie and the White Sox with the ball game, 3 to 1. Both Thurston and Collins pitched commendably.

The Pirates returned to home cooking by again throwing the hooks into the Cubs, 9 to 1. In addition to holding the Cubs to five hits, Morrison stepped out of character with two tripies when Kauffman purposely passed the preceding hitter.

Simmons' double scored Hale from first with the winning run in the eleventh, the Athletics again beating the Red Sox. Score 6 to 5. Walberg turned the Sox back without a run after they had filled the bases with none out in the tenth.

With Walter Johnson mowing them down like a grim reaper., the Senators won in a canter from the Yankees, 10 to 1, at the official opening of the Washington season. Shocker had nothing but a headache.

The Dodgers amassed a total of seventeen hits off four pitchers but contrived to finish second to the Phillies, 8 to 7. Grimes, the Salivary holdout, made his first start of the season and showed little.

Three errors by Burrus and Bancroft in the ninth staked the Giants to the decision over the Braves, 6 to 5.

Indians are Trimmed In First Home Clash

CLEVELAND, April 23.—St. Louis defeated Cleveland in the local inaugural game yesterday, 3 to 2, in 10 innings. Joe Bush finished his first game in three starts, not allowing a scare after the first inning. Doubles by Bush and Tobin decided the contest in the tenth.

The crowd numbered 22,616, being an opening day record for Dunn Field.

Sisler hit safely in his eighth consecutive game when he singled in the ninth.

Coolidge Sees Nats Down Huggins' Crew

WASHINGTON, April 23.—President Coolidge tossed out the first ball to open the Washington season yesterday and was rewarded by a home club victory, the Nats defeating New York, 10 to 1.

Walter Johnson, the Washington ace, distributed seven hits among the Yankees, while his mates were collecting 14 from Shocker, Francis and H. Johnson. Shocker was touched for 11 hits in 4 1-3 innings.

Dundee Opened Historic Arena and He'll Be There at the Finish

The last fight to be held in the historic Madison Square Garden, New York city, before that building is torn down, will be staged May 5. Johnny Dundee, now a fading old veteran, will meet Sid Terris. Dundee was in Terris' shoes—with the future before him—when he signed to fight in the first show staged in the garden when it was opened to the boxing game years ago

Tagging The Bases

Chicago fans presented Eddie Collins with gifts as he made his home debut as manager and then loose fielding by the Tigers made it unanimous by presenting Eddie and the White Sox with the ball game, 3 to 1. Both Thurston and Collins pitched commendably.

The Pirates returned to home cooking by again throwing the hooks into the Cubs, 9 to 1. In addition to holding the Cubs to five hits, Morrison stepped out of character with two triples when Kauffman purposely passed the preceding hitter.

Simmons' double scored Hale from first with the winning run in the eleventh, the Athletics again beating the Red Sox. Score 6 to 5. Walberg turned the Sox back without a run after they had filled the bases with none out in the tenth.

With Walter Johnson mowing them down like a grim reaper,, the Senators won in a canter from the Yankees, 10 to 1, at the official opening of the Washington season. Shocker had nothing but a headache.

The Dodgers amassed a total of seventeen hits off four pitchers but contrived to finish second to the Phillies, 8 to 7. Grimes, the Salivary holdout, made his first start of the season and showed little.

Three errors by Burrus and Bancroft in the ninth staked the Giants to the decision over the Braves, 6 to 5.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, at bed time.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

Imported Books and Brains.
Silly Mrs. Carrie Cook.
Our Ships to Australia.
Rome's 2,678th Birthday.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Some import from Europe ancient work of art, old books and manuscripts. Such men are useful citizens. What they buy for their intellectual pleasure today will help to educate many generations of Americans.

For the government to tax such purchases is silly and harmful. Government might better subsidize them.

Henry Ford cares little for antique paintings, but he also imports from Europe "rare objects." He imported recently the only one of its kind in all the world, and that one is Carl E. Johansson, of Sweden.

Mrs. Johansson now uses his extraordinary mechanical genius manufacturing, in Ford's admirable laboratory, the Johnsson gauges, which are the world's standard of accuracy.

The first of these gauges, just completed, is sent with Ford's compliments to Thomas A. Edison.

That marvelous machine, with its 81 blocks of finely made pieces of steel, is accurate to within one four-millionth of an inch, a size too small for your eye to see, or for the finest nerves to detect.

If others would imitate Ford and spend money importing scientific and other brains in Europe, our civilization and prosperity would grow rapidly.

What an admirable thing it would have been had one of our many rich men, to whom a few millions meant nothing, had the imagination to bring to this country scientists that were starving, unable to work for lack of materials and strength, when the war ended.

Mrs. Carrie Cook, who will know better next time, stole a pound of butter from a lunch room and hid the butter under her hat. She was caught, pleaded guilty and is now spending 30 days in the workhouse.

Nothing was said about anybody from the district attorney's office being present in the grand jury room or anything of that kind. There's a big difference between stealing one pound of butter and $100,000,000 worth of oil.

You can't hire the best lawyers or impress a gland wise judge with one pound of butter.

Our ships will extend the Pacific ocean cruise to Australia. Timid souls fear that the Australians may display too much anti-Japanese feeling on the arrival of the American fleet.

There won't be any anti-Japanese demonstration by Australians, probably. If they do indulge in such demonstrations, that's their business. It isn't ours to tell Australia how she ought to feel.

It's a good thing to send our fleet to Australia, letting Australians know that we feel as they do about keeping white lands for white men, while fully respecting the Asiatics and their rights in their land.

It would be difficult to imagine anything more impertinent than the suggesting that United States ships should not go wherever they please in the Pacific ocean.

Yet, such a suggestion was actually considered seriously by our government.

A gentleman, formerly kaiser in Germany, once undertook to tell the United States just where its ships might and might not go on the Atlantic.

LOOK AT HIM.

King Victor Emmanuel and other Italians celebrated yesterday, most appropriately, by the opening of the newly excavated Forum of Augustus, the 2,678th birthday of the magnificent "Eternal City."

Needless to say, the exact date of Rome's foundation cannot be known. Greeks from the eastern end of the Mediterranean, wise men from Asia Minor driven out by ignorance, and superstition, men of the strange Etruscan race, other coming by boat or over the Pyrenees and Alps from the Spanish peninsula, slowly built up the city on the Seven Hills.

Romulus and his little brother, Remus, nursed by the kind hearted she-

Jack Dempsey Ready To Fight Any Man, He Tells New Yorkers

NEW YORK, April 23.—Jack Dempsey, accompanied by his bride, Estelle Taylor, arrived in New York this morning at 9:40 o'clock, reiterating his declaration that no strained relations exist between Jack Kearns and himself and that he is ready to fight any man with whom Kearns matches him, Harry Wills included.

Looking very dapper, and physically fit, the heavyweight champion was greeted by an army of fans upon his arrival at the Grand Central station.

Defense Heard in Ashland Case

ASHLAND, O., April 23.—Harley Willitrout, of Polk, member of the first grand jury that investigated the killing of John Dalton, Ashland Rubber chemist, last October, was the first witness for the defense when hearing of the case against Carlos Gorham, charged with second degree murder was resumed here today.

TWO BULGARIAN CHIEFS SLAIN AS JUGO-SLAVS DEMAND SOFIA APOLOGY

Agrarian Party Leader and Former Minister of War in Stambulinsky Cabinet Are Assassinated as Disorders Continue in Sorrow-stricken Capital, According to Press Dispatch.

BORDER NATION RESENTS CHARGE THAT PLOT WAS INSTIGATED IN SERBIA

Break in Diplomatic Relations is Threatened if Bulgar Government Fails to Make Satisfactory Explanation of Cabinet Official's Speech Following Cathedral Bombing During Funeral.

LONDON, April 23.—M. Prutkin, leader of the Agrarian party and former chief of police of Sofia, and M. Muavieff, former minster of war in the Stambulinksy, or peasants' party cabinet, were assassinated today, according to Central News dispatch from Sofia.

The same agency, in Belgrade despatches, stated that the Jugo-Slav government had demanded that the Bulgarian government either explain or apologize for accusations from Sofia that the attempted uprising in Bulgaria was instigated in Serbia.

The Jugo-Slav government threatened to break off diplomatic relations if Bulgaria refused to comply, the agency dispatch added.

Deny Wholesale Executions.

M. Roussef, minister of the interior, made the first direct charge against Jugo-Slavia at yesterday's session of the Bulgarian parliament. He quoted the bellringer of the cathedral as saying that Captain Minkoff had assured him before the explosion that he would be taken safely across the frontier in an automobile of the Jugo-Slav legation.

Minkoff was the ex-army officer who placed the bomb under the dome of the cathedral. He was shot by the police Monday.

The British foreign office stated that it believed reports of wholesale executions in Sofia to be inspired by Communists in Vienna, and that it had discounted the reports accordingly.

"The Bulgarian government has acted with great restraint and has the situation well in hand," M. Mishef, the Bulgarian minister to England, said.

"I received a message late last night asking me on behalf of tha government officially to deny reports of wholesale arrests and executions in Bulgaria."

Protest Army Increase.

ATHENS, April 23.—Greece, Jugo-Slavia and Roumania will protest to the conference of ambassadors against any increase in the Bulgarian army, it was learned today. They will contend that Bulgaria's present forces are sufficient to preserve order and that they already exceed the limits set by the treaty of Versailles.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 23.—The newspaper Pestinaplo today said that the British and American ministers in Sofia had intervened and asked the Bulgarian government for more humane treatment of prisoners. The move was prompted, the newspaper said, by rumors of executions.

Sand Cave Victim's Body Rescued and Brought to Surface

CAVE CITY, Ky., April 23.—The body of Floyd Collins, trapped in an underground cavern at Sand Cave on January 30, was brought to the surface this morning.

The body was in fairly good condition. The low temperature prevailing in the cave was undoubtedly responsible for its excellent preservation.

The body was wrapped in cotton to prevent its exposure to the air upon being brought to the surface.

After embalming, the body will lie in state at Cave City for three or four days, and will then be given the burial insisted on by Collin's father and brothers.

DUFFY TO STAY ON STATE JOB

Industrial Commission Chief Will Remain Few Months Longer.

Thomas J. Duffy, former president of the national Brotherhood of Operative Potters, will continue as chairman of the state industrial commission until the new department of industrial safety is established and underway, he announced at Columbus yesterday.

GIGANTIC U. S. DRIVE AGAINST CRIME PLANNED BY COOLIDGE

War on Rum Runners, Dope Peddlers and Alien Smugglers.

COMBINE FORCES

Conference of Leaders is Called for Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, April 23. — The greatest criminal drive in the history of the government is planned by the Coolidge administration through pracal merger of all federal law enforcing agencies, it was learned today.

Every crime detecting branch of the government would be called into the drive and their combined ranks thrown against rum runners, dope peddlers and alien smugglers, if a program drafted at the treasury department is [illegible] objective would be to erect an impressive barrier on all American border lines.

To perfect this gigantic federal crusade against crime, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, decorated by the government for his organizing genius, has called a conference for tomorrow.

Approved by Sargent

Representatives of the stae, labor, treasury and justice departments will discuss means of coordinating the efforts of customs agents, public health officials, department of justice agents, immigration authorities nad the consular service to build a stone wall defense against smuggling.

Under the present system of border protection there is an absence of centralization of effort and a general conflict of authority among the various

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS EDITOR

W. H. Watson, Donora, Pa., Speaks at Luncheon.

"Know yourself" was the advice given members of the Kiwanis club by W. H. Watson, newspaper editor, of Donora, Pa., at the noon luncheon held in the Larkins annex, Market street, today.

"We have a lot of menaces to deal with in this day and age," he said. "One of these is selfishness. That selfishness is just as likely to crop out among Kiwanians as it is among clothing merchants.

"To the kids of your community, of my community and of every community, we owe a debt, which the service clubs can pay. We can't pay that debt by buying them fire crackers on the Fourth of July or by holding a boy's week occasionally, but we owe them an intelligent interest every day in the week.

"Some parents will say to their children 'You don't do like we did when we were young.' Sure we don't. We should reform the old and inform the young."

C. C. Cline announced that the East Liverpool club had joined the proposed Kiwanis league which is being organized in this district.

The club extended a vote of thanks to the good roads committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and the Pittsburgh business men for their interests in having legislation adopted providing for the improvement of the Lincoln highway from East Liverpool to Pittsburgh.

The attendance prize, a fountain pen, furnished by Kurt Bergner, was awarded to Mayor Charles Brown.

G. S. GOODWIN, 75, DROPS DEAD WHILE WALKING ALONG HIGHWAY

Former Pottery Plant Owner Stricken With Heart Disease.

CIVIC LEADER

Funeral Services Will be Held Saturday Afternoon.

George Smith Goodwin, 75, former president of the Goodwin Pottery company and a son of the late John Goodwin, East Liverpool's second pottery manufacturer, died suddenly of heart disease while walking along the Lincoln highway, about two miles north of the city, at 5:10 o'clock last night.

Oldest Pioneer Potter.

Mr. Goodwin, accompanied by his brother, Henry S. Goodwin, who were accustomed to long walks, was returning to his home after a trip in the country when stricken. At a point, just beyond the George McClintock home, near Sherwood, he stopped and sat down on the curbstone by the side of the road as if to rest. His brother sat down beside him.

A moment later he uttered a moan and his head dropped over on his brother's shoulder. His brother put his arm about him and within a minhe breathed his last. A physician was summoned from a nearby house, but before he arrived, the stricken man was placed in an automobile, driven by Attorney George Brokaw, who passed along at the time, and brought to his home, West Fifth and Jackson streets.

Mr. Goodwin was the oldest East Liverpool pottery manufacturer. He was born in a house which stood on Second street, opposite the Peter Milliron building, a son of John Goodwin and Esther Smith Goodwin, on June 16, 1850. His father, a potter by trade, came to East Liverpool from Staffordshire, England, in 1842, and

Most Important of Group is McDonald Proposal, Modifying Uniform Rule and Laying Foundation for Tax Plan.

COLUMBUS, April 23.—Greatest interest in the November elections in Ohio is expected to center in the four proposed amendments to the state constitution which are to be submitted to the people for ratification.

Most important of the group, and the one which is likely to be object of a powerful propaganda campaign during the summer and autumn, is the McDonald proposal, modifying the uniform rule and laying the foundation for a modern scientific taxation system to replace the system under which the state now operates. The proposal was defeated at referendums in 1921 and 1923.

A state-wide organization is now being built up among organizations interested in proposal to present the merits of the proposed amendment to the people and a fund of sizeable proportions is being raised to defray expenses of the campaign. The amendment would give the legislature authority to classify intangible property for taxation and to remove automobiles from personal property taxation.

Four-Year Terms for Officials.

The second measure to go before the people will be the Dempsey-Farnsworth resolution, proposing an amendment by writing into the organic state law the pay-as-you-go debt limitation provisions of the Griswold act that no bonds shall be issued for current expenses, for acquisition of property or for improvements having an estimated usefulness of no more than five years, nor for mortization over a period longer than the estimated life of the improvements. The legislature proposed to write these limitations into the constitution to

NO LIFEBOATS LOWERED BY RESCUE SHIP AS JAPANESE VESSEL SINKS

Many Praise, Others Criticize Captain of Homeric as 38 men on Nipponese Steamer go to Death.

NEW YORK, April 23.—"I saw no one clinging to the wreckage, and I gave no order to lower the boats. There was nothing to be accomplished when there was no one to be saved."

This was the explanation given today by Captain John Roberts, of the White Star liner Homeric, which arrived here late last night, as to why he did not lower lifeboats to go to the aid of the Japanese steamer Raifuku Maru which went down with all of its crew of 38 last Tuesday off the coast of Nova Scotia, while the Homeric, which had rushed to the scene, stood by.

Although 123 passengers on board the Homeric signed a testimonial praising Captain Roberts for his rescue efforts, there were some on board who voiced opposite feelings.

Failure to try to cast off the life rafts, attached to the Homeric by ropes, so that the waves would carry them to the Japanese sailors struggling in the mountainous seas, was the main contention of Captain Roberts' critics.

The majority of the passengers, however, agreed that three lifeboats were swung out on their davits aboard the Homeric and kept in readiness for lowering.

Amos R. E. Pinchot, brother of Gov. Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, was one of the group of passengers who said they saw Japanese sailors struggling in the water after the Raifuku Maru had disappeared.

"The captain's statement," he said, "was extremely inaccurate when he said there was no life in the water after the freighter capsized.

"I personally saw several men being carried toward the Homeric."

wolf, are one of the many pretty stories that must be put away.

No matter who started it, the Roman-Italian race is a powerful and wonderful human family.

Whoever thinks it has anything to learn from "the Nordics" don't know much. With what Nordics will you match Michaelangelo, Galileo, or any one of a hundred produced by that little strip of land running down into the Mediterranean?

Daniel Clancey, father of 20 sons and daughters, drank a little too much in honor of his oldest son's approaching marriage and was arrested.

"Go free," said the magistrate, "the father of 20 is entitled to a little celebration."

That's judicial wisdom. You observe that it is usually the father of 20, not the mother, who celebrates in that particular way. But, the mother of 20 or more, or fewer, is content to celebrate by setting a good example.

agencies, it was understood. The "merger" of federal agencies was suggested to correct this evil.

Lack of Harmony Reported.

An official investigation disclosed that the various arms of the border patrol have not been working in entire harmony. A clash between agents of the prohibition unit and immigration service at Detroit was recently reported to the labor department. Other petty jealousies have arisen preventing effective law enforcement, officials said.

Instead of acting independently, as under present regulations, agents of the state, labor, treasury and justice departments, will co-operate and will be held jointly responsible for the enforcement of all laws pertaining to border protection, if the "merger" is effected. This would send a tremendous army of federal agents into the field searching for all violators of federal laws.

The proposed "merger" has frequently been suggested in congress, but the conference tomorrow will be the first step in that direction ever taken by the executive branch of the government.

Steamship Company Drops Suit Against U. S. Shipping Board

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The Pacific Mail Steamship company today abandoned its suit against the United States shipping board to prevent sale of five "President type" liners to the Robert Dollar line.

This action was taken when attorneys for the Pacific Mail announced in District supreme court that they would not appeal from the ruling of Justice Hitz, who declined to half the sale by injunction.

A temporary restraining order, issued by the court Saturday, expired at the same time, leaving the shipping board free to carry out a contract selling the ships to the Dollar line.

The Pacific Mail, which now operates the vessels, had opposed the sale on the ground that it would create a monopoly by Dollar interest in shipping on the Pacific ocean.

proposed right of way through Smith's Ferry will cost about $35,000. The traction company will spend about $32,000 in improvements, while the railroad company's share in the expense will be approximately $50,000.

The proposed improvement will be submitted to the public service commission for its approval. The road will be built and maintained by the state.

The Beaver county commissioners have set aside $50,000 with which to bridge Beaver creek at the westerly end of Smith's Ferry. The old steel span is no longer safe.

The road from Beaver to Midland, with the exception of a short stretch through Industry, was completed last summer. Buildings, occupying a part of the right of way through Vanport, are now being moved and the roadway at this point will be surfaced this summer. Midland has also completed the road within the corporation.

As a bill for the improvement of the Lincoln highway road through Chester and Clinton has already passed the legislature and steps are now being taken to seek bids, it is likely that East Liverpool will have two hard surfaced roads to Pittsburgh before the end of another year. The road through Chester is said to be approximately 10 miles shorter than the route up the river through Beaver, Rochester and Sewickley.

ENGLISH NOVELTY IS FEATURED WITH GENTRY-PATTERSON CIRCUS

Foreign Act That Has Proven a Circus Super-Feature in the United States

The management of the Gentry Bros.-Jas. Patterson Circus, which comes here Wednesday, May 6, for two performances, imported for this season's show the Cottrell-Powells, famous European carrying riding act, which is one of over two score features presented on the big two-hour program. From the time of closing of the dazzling spectacular opening number, "Fairyland," until the familiar final announcement, "all out and over," the three ring, hippodrome and stages are filled in rapid rotation with aerialists, acrobats, tumblers, slack wire artists, trapeze performers, flying ballet of girls suspended from the top of the tent by their teeth, a whole army of clowns, educated dogs, goats and other domestice animals and the famous Gentry Shetland ponies.

a year later was joined by his wife and daughter.

Father Established Business

In 1844 after the Bennett pottery was swept away by a flood, John Goodwin, father of the deceased, took over several buildings along the river bank owned by Benjamin Harker and at that time used in the manufacture of ale. Here was operated a one-kiln plant used in the manufacture of yellowware, Mr. Goodwin being associated with Thomas Croxall and Ned Tunnecliff, young Englishmen. A year or two later, the elder goodwin year or two later, the elder Goodwin erected a one-kiln plant at the foot of Market street, where the old Mountford & Sons plant now stands. He sold this plant in 1853 to the Baggot Pottery company.

John Goodwin launched another pottery venture on what is now the site of the D. E. McNicol pottery, Broadway, in 1863. In 1869 he moved to Trenton, N. J., where he became a member of a pottery manufacturing firm known as the Taylor-Goodwin & company, in the manufacture of white granite ware.

Purchased Broadway Plant.

Dissatisfied in Trenton, he returned to East Liverpool in 1870. A short time later he purchased from Timothy Rigby, the two-kiln plant at the corner of Sixth street and Broadway, now owned by the Hall China company. He enlarged this plant and at the time of his death in 1875 it was the largest pottery west of the Allegheny mountains.

Upon the death of John Goodwin, the business was taken over by his three sons, James H., George S., and Henry S. Goodwin, being operated under the name of Goodwin Brothers. James H. Goodwin was the first president of the company, holding that place until his death in 1896, when George S. Goodwin succeeded him. Henry S. Goodwin was treasurer. The company was incorporated in 1893 under the name of the Goodwin Pottery company.

On April 23, 1912, thirteen years ago [illegible] was fired off at the Goodwin Pottery Co. plant, when the company quit the manufacturing field.

Funeral Services in Home.

In 1897 George Goodwin married Miss Josephine Fisher. She died in 1903.

He was a trustee of the East Liverpool City Hospital association until about two years ago and was a member of the Riverview cemetery association at the time of his death. He was treasurer of the United States Potters association from 1896 to 1907.

While not a member, he was a regular attendant at the First Methodist Episcopal church. He supported all movements which had a tendency for the betterment and uplift of the community.

Mr. Goodwin leaves but one near relative, his brother, Henry S. Goodwin, of this city. He has a number of nephews residing here.

Funeral services will be conducted in the late home at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in charge of Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Another amendment to go before the people is the Sweeney resolution, providing four-year terms for all elective state and county officials except judicial officers and members of the legislature. A strong campaign in support of this amendment also is expected to be organized.

Concentration—

For sixteen years Easy Washer engineers have concentrated on the correct application of electrical energy to the operation of the vacuum cup principle of clothes washing. The "EASY" Vacuum Electric Washer was a success from the start. It has never been found necessary to adopt a new washing principle.

Today the "EASY", with its many points of mechanical superiority and numerous conveniences, has well nigh approached a point of perfection. Witness the straight line lever action—minimizing friction. Inspect the machine cut helical gears or the ground bearings if you are interested in such matters, or assure yourself that these important points have been well taken care of by talking with your neighbor who owns an "EASY."

The undivided attention of our experts has been constantly centered upon the perfection of this mechanism and this washing principle—always fundamentally correct. The splendid facilities of our completely equipped experimental laboratory have been used for this one objective—the perfection of details—the refinement of the "EASY" Vacuum Electric Washer. Those who buy an "EASY" profit by this concentration. They own a time-tried, a simplified, a permanent possession, a washer of stability, of quiet, co-ordinated performance.

There is no disputing the fact that an electric washing machine is the only right way—the best way—to wash clothes. Now there can be no question but that the "EASY'S" advanced and outstanding mechanical simplicity, developed correctness of design and long-lived wearing parts justly entitle it to the position of first place it has earned with the housewives of America.

A demonstration in your own home will prove a revelation.

NEW ESTIMATE ON PAVING JOB

Surveyor Puts Cost of Wells Ave. Work at $21,834.30.

The improvement of Wells avenue, a link in the Lisbon street-Wells avenue project, from Third street to Silver switch, will cost $21,834.30.

This is the revised estimate of County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk, and makes the cost of this county-city-traction company job approximately $1,000 less than the former estimate.

This new estimated cost, Surveyor Kirk announces, is contingent on the success of the various interests in obtaining from private ownership sufficient ground for sidewalk purposes on the south side of the street car tracks.

Uncle Sam Launches Drive to Stop Fake 'Colony' Sales

Unscrupulous Salesmen Send Farmers to South America to Find Land is Desert.

WASHINGTON, April — Aimed at protecting the public from fake colonization schemes, especially in South America, a determined campaign has been launched by the government.

Reports have been received by the Department of Commerce indicating the collapse of a recently established American colony in South America, in which virtually all the land purchasers lost heavily.

Demand that the government take steps to prosecute the promoters of the scheme has been received by the department. It is probable the evidence will be turned over to the Department of Justice and the Postoffice Department for a thorough investigation.

Farm Land Sold.

Taking advantage of the depression in the agricultural sections, a land company prosecuted a successful selling campaign, disposing of a considerable tract of farm real estate in South America.

The Department of Commerce has been informed that the land was far removed from transportation facilities, and some of it was on a desert. When the colonists arrived on the site their efforts at farming are said to have failed, and American officials were faced with the necessity of raising funds to get them back to the United States.

While representatives of South American powers in Washington have represented to the Department of Commerce that some of the colonization schemes are legitimate, officials said that many of them offer little probability of success for Americans.

Investigation.

Officials today urged that before entering into contracts for South American or other foreign agricultural lands, prospective purchasers make personal investigation, or take the matter up either with the State Department or the Department of Commerce.

Facilities are understood to have been perfected in these two departments to determine the legitimacy of foreign land-selling projects. Officials believed that the saving to American investors would reach hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

Foreign embassies here have pledged their co-operation to the government in the effort to weed out the legitimate land selling schemes from those indicating fraud.

Prosecutionns of fraudulent land-promoters would be possible, it was understood, under a federal statute pertaining to conspiracies, and also under the law applying to the use of the mails to defraud.

Doors made in this country are being used in South Africa, Australia, Belgium and other countries.

Under the direction of the Swedish government, schools for the little Laplanders are held in nomad tents.

Safety Message For Schools

In keeping with the nation-wide movement of the American Automobile association and the National Motorists' association, the Ohio State Automobile association and its various units are carrying a message of "safety first" to Young America as a means of reducing the appalling toll in traffic accidents.

Representatives of the Columbiana County Motor club tomorrow will visit the public and parochial schools in the cities and sends letters, urging precautions on the part of pupils, to rural schools, in co-operation with other automobile organizations throughout the state. This educational campaign will be emphasized in Hancock county, W. Va., as well as in Columbiana county.

Observance of regulations governing cross-walks at street intersections as well as hints to safeguard lives in walking along country roads will be urged. The danger of jay-walking will be stressed, while attention will be directed to the importance of exercising common sense at all times as means of safety.

The need of the "safety message" is apparent from a glance at statistics. During 1923 reports of deaths from accidents in continental United States showed a total of 83,772, an increase of 7,517 over the previous year. In the list of causes, the automobile led, with 15,714, almost doubling the toll of life exacted by railroads, which were responsible for 8,078 fatalities. Street cars snuffed out 1,771 lives, 7,304 were burned to death, 6,529 drowned and 15,382 killed in falls.

Books In College

Book ownership and private libraries have sometimes been considered things of the past. In the present day, it has been thought, people read books borrowed from public libraries and care very little about building up libraries in their homes. College students are supposed to pay attention only to text books required for study.

For these reasons a library exhibit held recently at Yale university is of interest. It was a display of the private collections of books and manuscripts belonging to the students and housed in the dormitories. A group of undergraduates were authors of the happy idea to assemble these collections for a public exhibit.

It is reported: "The Yale faculty members and the literati of New Haven admitted that they were stricken dumb with amazement and admiration at the extent, the value and even the magnificence of the collection of books and manuscripts which the undergraduates brought together."

This should give pause to critical persons who have believed that the colleges and universities were addicted to everything but an interest in books. Private libraries and an appreciation of good literature and fine books apparently can thrive on the same campus with a great stadium and keen interest in athletics.

Indian Blood

The Indian race is not dying out, as many have supposed. It is growing—on the color fringes. The full-bloods are just holding their own. The mixed bloods are increasing at the rate of about 1,000 a year.

Here is another surprise. It used to be traditional that an Indian half-breed was "no good." Yet half-breeds are now turning into substantial citizens, successful farmers and capitalists. There are 43,000 Indians settled on farms, against 20,000 ten years ago, and western banks have $35,000,000 of Indian money.

The race will probably die out in time, just the same, not by extinction but by assimilation. The half-breeds marry more and more with the dominant whites, thinning the red strain in their blood. There are bound to be more and more mixed marriages of the full-bloods. Eventually the "redskins" will be gone, having added a little copper to the average American complexion and a little more calmness to the American character.

The Radio Mushroom

The radio industry may be regarded as about five years old. The Radio Corporation of America in 1920 sold $2,000,000 worth of receiving sets. Last year its sales were $300,000,000. The industry now employes 250,000 persons. It may be assumed that one family out of every 100 is supported by it. There are 4,000,000 receiving sets in use, with 600 broadcasting stations, furnishing information and entertainment to perhaps 16,000,000 Americans.

Never has any other industry had such a growth.

Other industries developing with mushroom speed have collapsed. There is no sign of the collapse of radio. It is probably only at the threshold of its achievement. One of these times, however, aviation may start and give both radio and motor industries "a run for their money."

Chicago expects to have 6,600,000 people by 1950. Anybody but a Chicagoan who has ever trodden Chicago sidewalks or driven Chicago streets or ridden in Chicago cars has some idea, however inadequate, or how dreadful that will be.

Von Hindenburg is finding that, whatever war may be, politics is Hades.

It won't take many more years of radio to make farmers keep city hours.

"Fines for jaywalkers" is the slogan of a new traffic reform movement. Which, as you might say, would be fine for motorists.

HASKIN'S LETTER
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A Model Tourist Camp.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23.—The wanderlust season is upon us. This is evidenced by the number of out-of-town license tags on automobiles seen on the streets. Perhaps this is particularly apparent in Washington because sooner or later everyone who can possibly contrive to do so seems to head toward the National Capital. And this is the beginning of the open season for tourists. At this time the famous Japanese cherry trees are in full bloom along the Potomac speedway and around the tidal basin. Thousands of visitors come from all over the United States just to see them.

More and more people are traveling in automobiles now, both because it is cheaper and because they enjoy getting out into the open. And a larger proportion of these prefer to camp instead of stopping in hotels. Therefore tourist camps have sprung up all over the country. The one in East Potomac Park in Washington is considered one of the most complete.

The site of this camp is particularly advantageous. It overlooks the Potomac and is close to the public golf course. One who has traveled a hundred miles or so may until the bow knots by taking a turn around the golf course. Or if he feels like a little lazy diversion he may take the trusty fishing line, hang his feet over the sea wall and try his luck.

Formerly this tourist camp was leased to a concessionaire, but last year congress appropriated $50,000 to be used in putting up additional buildings and making a permanent camp. A further appropriation of $5,000 was made to cover the upkeep expenses. It is now under the supervision of the Office of Buildings and Public Parks.

The camp was not taken over by the government until the end of the last year, and as it was closed during the winter, not a great deal was done toward the carrying out of the ultimate plan that is being drafted. However, the drainage has been improved so that the tourist may be assured of a dry shelter even during a rainy period.

All Modern Conveniences.

This camp has all modern improvements including hot and cold water. A central laundry has been provided where Mrs. Tourist may "rinse out a few things." A space for drying these things has been enclosed by trees so that they may not be visible from the road and perchance distract the curious motorist so that he runs into another car or over the wall into the river.

Colonel C. O. Sherrill, who is in general charge, says that the other day when he was going through the central building a number of women who were doing some washing, and in the midst of this he was surprised to find a young man diligently curling his mother's hair. The colonel did not say whether she was having her hair curled while she washed, thus combining two operations much as is done in beauty parlors where one may be given a "facial" and manicure, or "wave" and manicure at the same time.

There are shower baths, and it is planned to put in more of these. There are also rest rooms, a grocery store, a lunch counter and a central recreation hall. At the grocery store, it has been said, may be purchased anything from a bottle of perfume to a bottle of coca cola.

In the recreation hall is an electric piano so that the campers may entertain themselves by singing or dancing if they so desire. There is also a radio so that the visitors need not exert himself at all in order to find entertainment.

Low Fees Are Charged.

Card playing is very popular although gambling is not permitted. One of the rules of the camp is that every one must be quiet after 11 o'clock. This probably seems early to most people, but those who are touring are apt to want to make an early start and therefore desire to turn in early in order to get their full quota of sleep so as to be fresh and alert for the morning drive.

The charge for camping space is very low. The rate is 50 cents a day for each car, regardless of the number of people traveling in it. This rate also covers the charge for a trailer. For 50 cents additional the traveler may obtain a tent with a wooden floor, two cots, a table and a chair.

Free firewood is furnished by the camp, and there are army buzacot field ovens which are for the use of the tourists. One of the plans for the permanent camp is to install a central kitchen where all of the cooking of the camp may be done.

The camp sites are arranged on symmetrical lots so that the camp may have a uniform appearance, and not appear from the road as a helter skelter jumble of cars, trailers and tents. The capacity of the camp at the present time is 500 cars and 2,500 people. The manager says that since March 1 there has been 1,000 persons registered. All motorists must register when they enter and check out when leaving.

When a car comes into the camp the manager meets it, gives the occupants an official welcome, takes the number and assigns them to their individual pot of ground where they may set up housekeeping.

Part of the official greeting is "Please read the rules." These are not oppressive. One must keep his dog tied and not allow him to wander around forming uncensored friendships and enmities. It is not permissible to indulge in speech-making unless given the special O. K. of the management, and you must not make your fellow tourists feel at home by deluging them with advertising material for some article in which you have a particular interest.

The camp is under constant police protection so that motorist need have no worry about losing spare tires, motometers, pots, pans, or any of their other belongings. Occasionally some will request that the manager check his valuables in the approved fashion of hotels. He is willing to do this but can not undertake to guarantee protection against loss, since as yet the camp has not installed a safe.

There is also a gasoline station within the camp grounds at which gas is sold at the standard rates. Really the camper can obtain practically everything he needs or desires within the confines of the camp itself, and need not risk getting lost in the more or less confusing avenues, squares and circles for which Washington is famous or notorius.

Of course modern tourist camps are springing up all over the country, and each community is apt to take particular pride in its own. There is a national interest in the one in Washington, because it is operated by the federal government, is located in the nation's capital, and sooner or later is apt to be the temporary home of almost any American.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 23.—I have been impressed recently with the change that has come to dentistry. New York now has several buildings given over exclusively to this profession. There are prim and alert office girls who relieve your nervousness with brisk conversation.

If one wants a tooth extracted he is directed to an extract. The chief dentist has several assistants who prepare the way for his skillful touch. The mechanical equipment are dazzling and intricate.

In my town there were two dentists—the proprietor of a barber shop and the leading veterinatian. Once in awhile we had an expert who came through town in his banjo-torched wagon selling Indian medicine and pulling teeth with his fingers free on the side.

When the old folk wanted a new set of teeth they measured their mouth with a string and sent it to a mail order house in Chicago. The opening of the first painless dentist parlor in our town was one of the big events in the community.

I remember Buck Webb, the livery stable proprietor, who had been without teeth for 30 years. His face closed up like a railroad time table folder and he ate all his meals with a spoon. He had a peculiar way of speaking. Some wit said he spoke Gum Arabic.

The painless dentist wanted to show what he could do with such a conspicuous subject and offered to outfit him free. The first day Buck wore them his turtle face had become horsey. His new set of crockery revealed delicate pink gums.

Buck went proudly home. His wife, who lived across the railroad tracks, was a timid soul and afraid of tramps and beggars. When Buck went in the gate she took one look at him and went screaming through the back yard. The dog came out from under the house and bit Buck in the leg. And it was the first time in 30 years Buck had been able to bite back.

I wonder, too, what has become of the itinerant piano tuner who came to small towns with the first touch of spring. He had long hair and a soulful expression and was looked upon as an artist. He would sit for hours zinging the keys and tightening the strings. He was called Professor. The other day I had need for a piano tuner. I had to talk to his secretary for an appointment. An assistant came with his mechanical necessities. The tuner himself arrived later—an elegante in yellow gloves, Bond street clothes and walking stick. He insisted no one must enter the room while he was at work. He made a charge of $10 which was the first and biggest payment made on the piano.

Speaking of dentistry and teeth, Arnold Bennett, the English novelist, on his last visit here displayed a pivot tooth in front that was quite the wonder of those who met him. In moments of repose the novelist had a habit of touching the finger to it and twisting it around. It had all the fascination of a loose tooth—and what is more fascinating?—and also the lure of roulette. You watched him twist it about and wondered whether it would stop on the black or on the white. One evening at a dinner, George Buchanan Fife, the writer, sat across from Bennett. He, too, was fascinated. Afterward he said he supposed that in England you bought a tooth much in the manner a bachelor does a theatre ticket. You plank down your money and say: "Give me a good one, way down front!"

The Tuxedo suits for evening, a replica of the male idea, that are being worn by the ladies of Paris are finding little favor here. So far only one has been seen in the cafes. She wore the stiff shirt front with standing collar, a white vest and a black bow tie. She is a show girl and nightly in her play by way of contrast she wears a plume and a smile.

PENNSY UNCERTAIN ABOUT TRAINS FOR POTTERS' PICNIC AT IDORA PARK

Company Refers to Lack of "Parking Space" at Youngstown in Negotiations With N. B. O. P. Committee.

The Pennsylvania railroad company's inability to furnish excursion trains from East Liverpool has placed a stumbling block in the way or the committee arranging the first annual picnic and reunion of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which will be held at Idora park, Youngstown on Saturday, June 6.

When the Youngstown resort was selected as the place for the outing, assurances were given by the Pennsylvania railroad company that arrangements could be made to operate excursion trains from all pottery centers. R. M. Flocker, Pittsburgh division passenger agent, has notified the committee that because of the lack of parking space at Youngstown and the necessity of keeping the track open for regular freight trains that the question of excursion trains is problematical. Youngstown business men assert there is ample parking space for excursion trains in the Youngstown yards.

Mr. Flocker has promised to take the proposition up with passenger agent at Cleveland in an effort to provide trains from the local district. Should the railroad company fail to furnish special trains, it is likely that arrangements for special cars will be made with Youngstown & Ohio River railroad officials.

The committee in charge of sports, consisting of William Ashbaugh, William Watkin and Joseph Dickey, has arranged a program which includes a baseball game, horse shoe pitching contests, swimming races, bowling tournaments, marble contests and spelling matches, etc. Cash prizes for first, second and third place winners will be awarded.

Potters and their families from East Liverpool, Newell, Sebring, Chester, Wellsville, Steubenville, Salem, Niles, Wheeling, East Palestine New Castle, Canonsburg, Kittanning, Carrollton, Scio, Salineville and other pottery centers will attend the affair.

Herewith is solution to Puzzle No. 158.

Tip For Beginners.

Solve this puzzle by comparing the synonyms listed in the "Horizontal" and "Vertical" columns with the number of spaces extending crosswise or downward on the diagram, as the case may be. If a word occurs to you meaning substantially the same as the synonym and the correct number of letters to fit in the spaces between its number and the first shaded stop following, write it in lightly. Work away the small words, the "easy" words, first, and they will give you plenty of clues to the difficult ones.

BRITISH ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED 'DOPED BY DOLE'

More Than 1,200,000 Draw Government Compensation.

INSURANCE ACT

No Party Can be Held to Blame for Condition.

LONDON.—England's army of unemployed is a passive army "dopped by the dole," according to Sir John Simon.

England now has a permanent army of about 1,200,000 unhappy people who are subsidized by the government, receiving regular allowances from the government solely on the condition that they have no work to do.

"This army has grown so familiar that sometimes we are hardly conscious of its menace," Sir John said.

"When the armistice was signed the government visualized exceptional unemployment for a short period only, whereas exceptional unemployment has continued ever since and now threatens to become chronic."

Insurance Act.

The Insurance Act of 1911 was a measure which provided that workmen should pay weekly sums to protect themselves against unemployment. This was an insurance measure in the true sense of the word, based on actuarial calculations, and funds were built up, during the good-trade period, for use during periods of bad trade. There was a reserve fund of $110,000,000 when the Insurance Act of 1920 was passed to protect post-war unemployed.

Today, instead of a reserve fund, the insurance scheme is in debt to the government for some $30,000,000 and has actually paid interest on Treasury loans to the extent of nearly $4,000,000.

No government or party can be held to blame for this condition of affairs, as is shown by the following figures: There were 1,267,675 unemployed when the Tory government went out of office in 1924 and Labor took over the reins of government; there were 1,021,000 unemployed when the Labor government gave up office on November 10, 1924; there were 1,219,200 unemployed in March, after the present Tory government had been in power for five months.

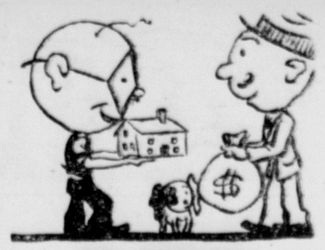

"On the Dole."

It is estimated that more than one-half of those who are 'on the dole," drawing unemployment benefit, are persons who have never paid sufficient mony from their wages to make them true members of the insurance scheme.

It is also estimated that there are at least 800,000 boys and girls who are unemployed and have been unemployed ever since leaving school."

"Most striking of all thes trange facts of our age," said Sir John Simon, "seems to me to be this—the extraordinary calmness with which our people have endured this scourge. There was no previous age in which this could have happened.

"It has happened because, if we tell the truth, dole is dope. What we have done is to chloroform a large part of the body politic. We have dulled their desire to cry out and resist by a continual application of doses of chloroform, which, urless used for e temporary emergency, saps the vitality and undermines the power for useful work."

GORE VETOES BOXING BILL

Governor's Action is Upheld in Lower House.

Hopes in sporting circles for legalizing boxing matches at which admission was charged were blighted last night when Governor Howard M. Gore vetoed the so-called "boxing bill" on which those hopes were based, and the house by a strong majority refused to override his veto.

Governor Gore had the measure in his possession but 30 minutes, when he returned it to the legislature with his disapproval.

In his veto message to the legislature, Governor Gore declared that whatever his personal beliefs were as to the merits of the boxing bill he felt that the majority of the people of the state were opopsed to it and that therefore he did not approve it.

The house vote showed only 21 members desiring to repass the bill over the governor's veto, while 62 voted against such action. Discussion on the veto message and the bill was brief, but included references to a statement by Judge George W. McClinitc to the grand jury in United States district court, criticizing the legislature for passing the bill. Delegate Cogar, who had been one of the active champions of the measure when it was first before the house, declared he resented criticism of the American Legion's position on the bill, and that the statement was beneath the dignity of a federal judge. Delegate Street, explaining that he did not believe in overriding the governor's veto and voted against that action, said he would be willing to vote for a resolution reproving the judge.

SENATE PASSES GAS TAX BILL

Motorists traveling in this state after July 1 will be compelled to pay a tax of three cents on gallon if the bill passed by the senate yesterday is enacted into a law. The measure was passed in the upper house with only one dissenting vote and it now goes to the lower house, where a keener fight is expected. Auto clubs of the state are chief opponents of the proposed increase.

GOOD LUCK CIRCLE INITIATES CLASS

Good Luck Circle No. 360, Protected Home Circle, initiated a large class last night at their regular meeting in the I. O. O. F.-K. of P. hall, Fifth street and Carolina avenue. The work was in charge of the special degree team. Members of the lodge plan to attend the initiation meeting tonight in Midland.

MINING REVISION LAW IS PASSED

Revision of the mining law of the state which experts believe will help to prevent mine accidents got the attention of both branches of the legislature yesterday and both passed the bill incorporating these changes in quick time and with negligible opposition.

The bill, in which one of the most important provisions is that for "rock dusting" of mines to prevent dust explosions, and which includes also an increase in the number of mine inspectors and some salary changes, was passed by the house of delegates at its morning session, 85 members voting for it and only two against it. After this action had been reported to the senate, that body suspended its rules and hastened to pass the measure, unchanged, bu the unanimous vote of 27 senators present.

BRITAIN FACES SHORTAGE OF SKILLED LABOR

Emigration Has Sapped Isles of Men Who Are Trained.

BUILDING HIT

Many Complaints Made by Industries; Cannot Carry On.

WASHINGTON—Great Britain is faced with a serious shortage of skilled laborers through emigration to outlying portions of the empire and to non-British countries, according to information received by the department of commerce.

Originally emigrantion was encouraged as a means of relief to the unemployment situation in the British Isles, and to man industry and agriculture in the colonies; but apparently the promoters of the scheme have overshot their mark, the exodus of skilled labor being a matter of grave concern to British observers.

In promoting the emigration scheme it was soon discovered that the British colonies did not welcome unskilled and ordinary workmen, but preferred individuals with some means and genuine ambition and ability. Great Britain, on the other hand, desires to retain the skilled and ambitious men for her own industries.

Many Complaints.

Complaints are heard from some industries that they cannot carry on because of the lack of skilled workmen who have left the country.

"The building trades," the department said, "assert they cannot execute existing plans nor relieve the housing shortage because so many of the skilled carpenters, masons and others have emigrated to the United States. Even to execute the limited project it is estimated that an additional 11,700 bricklayers, 7,800 carpenters and joiners, 7,800 slaters, roofers and plasterers, 6,800 masons, painters, plumbers and gasfitters and 25,000 unskilled laborers are needed."

These figures are thought to represent the emigration of the skilled workers in the building trades in the last few years, an exodus which has crippled the building industry in Great Britain.

Department of commerce experts said that 256,281 British subjects took up permanent residence in non-European countries in 1923; and while figures were not available for 1924, it was thought that the figure increased. Record emigration was in 1913, when 389,395 persons departed. Of the 1923 figure 93,076 departures were for the United States.

Young Emigrees.

More than half of the emigrant loss as accounted for by persons between the ages of 18 and 30 years. Agriculturists lead, with 20.1 per cent of the total in 1923. In the skilled trades the number increased in all classes, the most noticeable proportional increase being in the metal and engineering groups. The percentage in the commercial, financial and insurance group fell. Among the female emigrants over 18 years of age nearly half were wives, and the majority of the rest were in domestic or hotel service.

"One of the main reasons for the exodus of skilled workers is the disturbed and unsettled industrial situation, particularly in the engineering and building trades, coupled with the high proportion of unemployment," the department was informed.

"Attempts will be made to encourage emigration to relieve unemployment, but at the same time some effort will be made to equalize cost of living and wages in order to encourage skilled labor to remain at home."

What is thought to be of English origin and developed from a game of Tramp played about 1509 to 1547.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Stanzas from in Memoriam.

I envy not in any moods
The captive void of noble rage,
The linnet born within the cage,
That never knew the summer woods;

I envy not the beast that takes
His license in the fields of time,
Unfettered by the sense of crime,
To whom a conscience never wakes;

Nor, what may count itself as blest,
The heart that never plighted troth,
But stagnates in the weeds of sloth;
Nor any want-begotten rest.

I hold it true, whate'er befall;
I feel it when I sorrow most;
'Tis better to have loved and lost
Than never to have loved at all.

Is Housework Keeping You Tired and Weak?

Thousands of tired, nervous, rundown women who must daily perform exhausting housework and care for children, would be astonished to learn that in most instances their fatigue, headaches, nervousness and haggard appearance are now entirely unnecessary.

For physicians say that in an enormous number of cases these symptoms are due merely to the lack of sufficient iron in the blood. And now that Science has perfected a new combination of iron, like the iron in the blood, it is, in many cases, easily possible for people to increase their strength, nerve force and endurance in only two weeks time.

Any doctor will tell you that without sufficient organic iron, your blood loses its power to change food into firm, healthy flesh and tissue. So nothing you eat does you the proper amount of good. You become undernourished, weak, nervous, and lacking in physical force and endurance.

What you need, then, is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to enrich your blood and give you strength. For Nuxated Iron is organic iron, like the iron in your own blood. Try it just two weeks and notice the astonishing improvement. Money back if not delighted. But be sure you get genuine Nuxated Iron, with the letters NI on every tablet. This is the only kind sold under this absolute money-back guarantee. At all good druggists.

Best Spring Tonic For Old Folks Is Cod Liver Oil

Great Body Builder, Full of Vitamines.

Nowadays old folks are increasing their strength, vitality and endurance by the use of Cod Liver Oil, which according to medical men is full of vitamines and is the greatest body builder in the world.

Of course they don't take the nasty tasting, evil smelling, stomach upsetting oil itself. Few sensible people do that in these enlightened days, when McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets — sugar coated and easy to take—are sold in every drug store in the land—60 tablets for 60 cents.

Old people who want to keep young and vigorous as long as they can will find that these Tablets are just what they need to keep in first class condition.

Scientists tell us that "Cod Liver Oil is useful during every stage and age of life," but at no time is its wonderful building power more clearly demonstrated than in old age.

Why not get 60 tablets today and increase your already decreasing energy and strength. Take them for 30 days and note the pleasure you get from feeling younger again.

There is no question but what they will help you and of that you are the judge—if they don't help—your money will be returned by the druggist from whom you bought them — for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets are rigidly guaranteed. Be sure, however, to get McCoy's—the original and genuine. Ask Anderson, Larkins, Carnahan's, Mathew's Medicine Store about them.

Orchestras To Practice.

Orchestras of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal and Second Presbyterian churches will hold practice sessions this evening in their respective churches.

ENGLAND FEARS ART TREASURES WILL BE LOST

Americans Expected to Buy Cream of Famous Paintings.

DARNLEY SALE

London Collection Will go on Auction Block Soon.

ROCHESTER, England — English lovers of art are aroused lest more treasures are going to the United States.

The Earl of Darnley has decided to sell some paintings that for many years have hung on the famous walls of Cobham Hall, where Charles I began his honeymoon.

This collection of paintings was formed by the fourth Earl of Darnley, who was a friend of Reynolds, Gainsborough and Hopper.

The pictures offered for sale will include four pictures by Sir Joshua Reynolds, for by Gainsborough, five by Titian and one by Giorgione.

Americans There.

Only two years ago an American collector paid $500,000 for two works by Reynolds, and English patrons hear that American connoisseurs are to be present and will participate in the bidding when these picture are put up for auction.

The largest of the Gainsboroughs is a canvas 93 inches by 57 inches with portraits of Lord John and Lord Bernard Stuart, after Van Dyck. The two lads are dressed in the fashion of the doublet and breeches period and stand together near a pedestal. The picture was acquired by Lord Darnley's ancestor from Gainsborough's widow.

A smaller portrait also to be offered is that of Mrs. William Monck, sister of the first Earl of Darnley. She is shown in a white silk dress cut low at the neck and wearing three rows of pearls round her neck, pearl earrings and pearls in her hair.

Reynolds Pictures.

The Reynolds' pictures to be included in the sale are:

General Hon. Edward Bligh, painted in 1787.

John, third Earl of Darnley, painted 1761.

Mrs. Gore, of Woodford, painted 1761.

The Calling of Samuel.

Of the Titians the most notable are a picture of the Saviour and a Venus and Adonis.

The Giorgione picture represents Caesar in robes, seated on a dais and receiving the head of Pompey. It is on a panel 26⅞ inches by 107½ inches.

This will undoubtedly be the most notable art sale in England this year.

SORE, TENDER FEET
RAW, ITCHY TOES

Irritating acid perspiration from the foot pores produces and aggravates cracked toes, itching between toes, rawness and tender, aching, swollen feet.

The moment you apply "Phillips Milk of Magnesia," all this soreness, itching and tiredness disappears. Just pat it on, it dries instantly. Nothing else stops foot odors, relieves foot soreness and foot weariness so promptly as this harmless antacid.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Cautious Lover.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a woman of 24 with two children. I have separated from my husband. At the age of 16 I was forced by my mother to marry a man I did not love. I have lived with him for eight years and he has been a brute to me. His ways have only made me hate him more. I stayed with him as long as I did because I had two brothers who made their home with me. They were so good to me I just worshiped them. My husband was jealous because I loved them so much. Last summer I met a man whom I love dearly. I think he loves me too except at times. He will do anything in the world for me. He writes to me and at times we have met, but he is afraid to go out. He is not afraid of my husband, but he does not want to get into trouble. He says we will see more of each other later. I am getting a divorce. Please tell me whether you think he cares and has respect for me.

BROKEN-HEARTED.

The chances are that the man is merely enjoying a flirtation with you. He is playing safe in not wanting to be seen with you for his own sake just as much or more than yours. Probably after you have obtained your divorce you will find him full of new excuses. My answer to your problem is not the least bit encouraging. You might just as well be prepared for the worst, however, as that no matter what come you will be ready for it. Do not make your love for the man too evident because he will be less apt to appreciate you.

Rebellious Daughter.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl in my teens. I go to high school and have many nice girl and boy friends. Quite a few of the boys have asked to take me out but I can't go because of my parents. One night I went to a game with two other girls and then to a show and didn't get in until 11:30. My parents were very angry and now just because of that forbidden pleasure of going to the show I can't even step out of the house except to go to school. I can't even go to my girl friend's house and the only time I get out is Sunday afternoon and that is very seldom. I think keeping girls in lige this is the reason "Why girls leave home." I would be very glad to hear from you.

BLUE EYES.

When a girl in her late teens or early twenties is unduly restrained by her parents, she is apt to leave home provided she has work which would agine, however, that your parents enable her to live elsewhere. I imwere not entirely unreasonable in feeling alarm because you did not get home when they expected. Now you will have to regain their confidence, and it cannot be done by showing resentment toward them. As soon as they believe they have taught you a lesson and you are to be trusted, they will give you more freedom. It always pays for a girl to take her parents into her confidence; unhappiness is sure to follow deceit.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been keeping company with a young man two years my senior. I love him and feel sure of his love for me. A man about 52 has moved to our town. He is rich and my folks insist that I marry him. I have pleaded and argued but it is of no use. I feel sure that I could never be happy with this man, as he too old for me and I do not love him. Would it be all right to run off and marry the man I love,

JACK.

Do not marry a man you do not or should I do as my parents say?

love, but do not act hastily. To run off and marry would be a mistake if the young man you love is not in a position to marry yet. Make the best of conditions at home until you know it would be right to marry.

Married on a Dare!

This country, which considers itself so moral and upright, has the loosest marriage regulations of any nation on earth. Savages probably have more respect for the sanctity of wedlock. Such marriages as the one described in the letter below are all too common in many states.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a young man 23 years old badly in need of advice. I married a girl in another state only three days after I met her. It was a loveless marriage. Two couples were out on a "party" and when the other couple dared us to get married with them, neither of us would back out, and so we were married. My wife comes of a good family, and is a nice girl, except that she is too much a flapper. I didn't live any time with her hardly, and I haven't seen her in about eight months. I admit I do not love her, but believe I could learn to, but I'm afraid she wont' live with me any more. I think she married me under the impression I was wealthy, and I believe she wants more support than I would be able to give her. What shall I do? E. J. S.

Since there is no love between you, and the marriage was brought about under such absurb circumstances, I certainly would not advise you to consider yourself her husband. You two should consult a lawyer regarding a divorce. If the girl is under age, her parents can institute annulment proceedings.

Safety in Numbers.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl of just 16. My father has been sick for over a year with a brain disease. He seems to think I should have a steady fellow instead of different fellows for friends. My mother seems to think I shouldn't go around with any boys. Of course, she lets me go once in a while.

What would be your advice? Should I go with one steady fellow or with different ones? LILLIAN.

Your mother is quite right in considering you too young to go with boys except once in a while. Since you are so young let her pass her approval on your friends and also be the judge of the places you go.

Your father is probably worried about you because of his poor health and feels that you are too wild or you would not have so many friends. Do not give up good friends who are worth keeping, but on the other hand be most cautious in your choice of friends, not wasting your time with undesirables. A girl of 16 is far too young to go with one boy exclusively. There is safety in numbers because there is less danger of taking love too seriously. At the age of 16 several good friends are better than one lover.

Old Enough for Beaux.

B. & L.—Since you are 18 and 20 years of age you are old enough to have young men friends. Automobile rides at night are certainly dangerous, but I can see no harm in rides to church and definite places. Of course everything depends on your own conduct and the kind of friends you choose.

Disappointed Man—In my opinion you did exactly the right thing. The girl's nature is brutal. Since such an exhibition was painful to you, it is evident that you need a wife of more gentle tendencies.

Lovesick—You certainly have reason to fear that the young man's love for you is less ardent.

SICK WOMEN ATTENTION!

Read this Remarkable Testimony Regarding Results from Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Norfolk, Virginia.—"If you only knew how many women and girls have taken your medicine by hearing my testimony, it would seem wonderful to you. Every day and every chance I have I advise some one to try it. It was in June, 1904, when I had given up to never get well, that I wrote to you. My husband went to the drug-store and brought the Vegetable Compound home to me. In a few days I began to improve and I have often taken it since. I am now passing through the Change of Life and still stick by it and am enjoying wonderful health. When I first started with your medicines I was a mere shadow. My health seemed to be gone. The last doctor I had said he would give me no more local treatments unless I went to the Hospital and was operated on. That was when I gave the doctors up. Now I am a healthy robust woman. I wish I could tell the world what a wonderful medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is. I will be only too glad to answer letters from anywhere. I wish all sick women would take it."—Mrs. J. A. JONES, 317 Colley Avenue, Norfolk, Virginia.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenrhu, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenrhu, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of any one's money unless Allenrhu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance.

East Liverpool druggists are my appointed agents in your city. If you live out of town I'll gladly send you free particulars.

Nazarene Church Basement May be Occupied Sunday

Basement of the new Church of the Nazarene, corner Lincoln and St. Clair avenues, probably will be occupied Sunday, Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the church, announced today.

Carpenters this week are engaged in laying the floor on the room.

The main auditorium will not likely be ready for occupancy before the middle of June. The church pews will be shipped on or about June 5.

The finishing wood work is now being installed. A composition floor will be laid as soon as the carpenters complete their work. The interior walls will not be decorated for the time being, at least.

Work on the building was started early last fall. The congregation has been holding its week-end services in the high school auditorium.

Here's Guaranteed Relief for Stiff, Sore, Swollen Joints

Soaks right into tendons and ligaments of your joints—right where the trouble starts—Then Blessed comfort comes quickly.

Yes; it's true—the world progresses. All you have to do nowadays to limber up that stiff, rusty knee joint is to squeeze a half inch of miracle working substance from a tube.

Then rub it on the offending part for about a minute or until it soaks through the skin and disappears on its errand of mercy.

Then read the evening newspapers and go to bed.

The chances are that your misbehaving knee joint will lose its "creak" while you are dreaming about the high fences you used to leap when you were a youngster.

"And in the morning," says one who has tried the new discovery, "you'll feel so happy that you'll want to jump into your sportiest clothes and walk briskly down the street just to show the neighbors that you were not as old as they think you are."

Joint-Ease they call this wonder working substance, for the reason that when ordinary remedies fail to limber up the stiff, inflamed rheumatic joint, or reduce the swelling, Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's a good name for a good, clean penetrating prescription that in just a few months has proven to a multitude of people that lame, swollen, distorted joints can speedily have the kinks taken out of them and work as smoothly as ever.

But Joint-Ease is for bothersome joints, whether in knee, ankle, arch, hip, shoulder, spine or finger, and for that purpose its sale at 60 cents a tube is immense.

Jesse D. Holloway and Mathews Medicine Store has a big supply of it and druggists everywhere report a big demand.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint misery gets out—quick—and money back if it fails.

Laplanders are compelled to lasso even domestic reindeer before the animals can be harnessed or milked.

Rickard Is Dempsey's Choice of Promoter For Next Bout

Champion In Gotham to Confer With Tex Before Trip Abroad

Will Also Pay Unofficial Visit to Boxing Commission Where he Probably Will Have Some Questions to Answer.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Jack Dempsey, the well known bridegroom, arriving in New York today, faced the inevitable showdown on his intentions toward Harry Wills and the boxing game in general. Besieged alike by promoters and gentlemen of the press, the champion knows that he must answer a lot of embarrassing questions, and according to advance information supplied by one of his local yes-men, was prepared to meet the situation head-on.

"Dempsey will confer with only one promoter while here," read a statement from Joe Woodman, acting as one of Dempsey's several representatives. That promoter is Tex Rickard and none other. If he ever fights again, the champion will insist upon Rickard as the sponsor of the enterprise, Jack Kearns' ideas to the contrary.

The latter has a theory that it might be well to do business with Charles L. Henderson and this fact clearly indicates how far apart Dempsey and Kearns have drifted.

In this connection, it is significant that Dempsey will talk to Rickard without the advice and counsel of Kearns.

A visit to the boxing commission, which recently issued an edict declaring Dempsey null and void because he didn' accept Wills' challenge, is also on the champion's program. The visit will be strictly unofficial, yet he must be prepared to face some official interrogations. He cannot fight in this state until he has disposed of Wills, and all local promoters have been enjoined from negotiating for his services. The commission, therefore, will want to ask some friendly questions to which it may think itself entitled to a friendly answer.

Any fight conversation between Rickard and Dempsey, of course, must and will be strictly sub rosa on account of the board's proclamation. They might even come to a definite understanding, yet it would be difficult for any one to prove that they weren't discussing a five letter word, meaning ink on the blackboard.

The champion's visit, ostensibly, is to finish a picture in collaboration with Estelle Taylor Dempsey and then depart on a honeymoon tour of Europe with the collaborato. In this connection one thing is certain:

If Dempsey goes to Europe there will be no heavyweight championship fight this year. There is all too little time at his disposal and too much uncertainty about his intentions as it is.

WOOSTER READY FOR SPRING CARD

WOOSTER, O., April 23.—The Wooster college spring sport schedule will be opened the last of this week with a baseball game and a track meet. The baseball squad will play Westtern Reserve and the track team will meet Mount Union. Both contests are at Wooster.

The track squad made a good showing Monday evening in the inter-class meet. McVicker broke the Wooster record for the discus by making a throw of 116 feet 5 inches. Several of the track men made good time in the shorter races. The showing in the meet Monday will be used as a basis for picking the men for Saturday's met.

An English-bred colt, Master Charlie, one of the leading money-winners of 1924, is the early favorite for the Kentucky Derby. A total of 189 aristocrats of the richest regal equine blood of America and Europe are eligible to start in the classic. One of the most dangerous contenders, dopesters figure, is Quatrain, sired by Omar Khayyam, a Derby winner.

LISBON, April 23.—All entries for the annual Columbiana county track and field meet are expected to be filed with the track committee within the next 10 days, it was announced today by W. H. Preliminaries will be run off in the morning and the finals during the afternoon.

The Lisbon high track team is practicing daily at the county fair grounds. Detail arrangements for the meet are now being made by the officers of the association.

Cardinals Score 11 Runs in First Frame

ST. LOUIS, April 23.—Piling up eleven runs in the first inning, the St. Louis Cardinals easily defeated the Cincinnati Reds yesterday, 12 to 3, in the first National league game here this season. Fifteen Rickey men every player made at least one hit. Holm, Hornsby and Bottomley got two each.

Donahue, Sheehan and Dibut were batted out.

Giants' Initial Home Victory Pleases Fans

NEW YORK, April 23.—The New York Giants opened their home season yesterday with a 6 to 5 victory over Boston before 30,000 fans. The game was preceded by the raising of the National league pennant won by New York last year, and the golden jubilee flag, emblematic of the senior circuit's fiftieth anniversary.

In the ninth inning the Boston infield collapsed behind the splendid pitching of John Cooney. With the score tied Walker singled, Burrus threw wild on Frisch's sacrifice bunt and then fumbled another sacrifice by Young, filling the bases. Bancroft's fumbly of Kelly's grounder permitted Walker to score the winning run.

SPORT SPARKS

New York may lead the world in automobile fatalities, but Chicago and Philadelphia are unsurpassed in baseball accidents.

The Boston Red Sox are not going anywhere this year and do not care how soon they get there.

In predicting pennant winners this year practically every sporting writer in the country has overlooked the possibility that the Phillies may finish sixth.

Jawn has been giving his aging veterans the gate with a certain regularity of late. In a few years the oldest player on the team may be Young.

GARFIELD WINS BY SINGLE RUN

The Garfield nine defeated the Rinkeydinks yesterday afternoon at Columbian park. The score was 3 to 2.

The game was fast and brought out good baseball on both sides. Except for the third and fourth innings, the Rinkeydinks outclassed their opponents.

But these two innings were enough for the Garfields. A walk, an error and single in the third enabled Harris to score for Garfield. Fullerton came home on a hit by Knight.

On a two-bagger, Ferelo got on in the fourth for Garfield and went home on a single.

Machen and Hanlon scored for the Rinkeydinks in the second.

The teams lined up as follows: Rinkeydinks—Callahan, C. Hobbs, Banks, R. Hanlon, L. Hobbs, Machen, Wines, Greenwood. L. Hanlon and Wilson. Garfield — Knight, Garwood, Lisk, Johnson, Ferelo, Heath, Ward, Harris and Fullerton.

Pirates are Victors In Home Card Opener

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—The Pitts-Pittsburgh Pirates celebrated the opening of the home season by swamping Chicago, 6 to 1, while more than 30,000 fans looked on. Morrison held the Cubs to five hits.

Twice Koufmann passed Smith to get at Morrison, but the Pirate hurler each time made a two-base hit. Niehaus, at first, made his big league debut. He played a fast and steady game.

Brooklyn Errors Aid Phillies in Winning

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—The Phillies opened their home series yesterday by defeating Brooklyn, 8 to 7. The Dodgers hit four Philadelphia pitchers for a total of 17 bases, but four errors by the visitors proved costly. Philadelphia piled up an early lead.

The government has had a tough time collecting reparations, but it is reported that quite a few of the boys collected on Reparation when the old fellow breezed home at 4 to 1 recently.

CORBETT WINS FROM MASCART

Cleveland Feather Awarded Decision on Foul.

CLEVELAND, April 23. — Al Corbett, Cleveland featherweight, today sports the European featherweight championship, the result of his bout here last night with Edouard Mascart of Belgium, holder of the title.

Corbett's victory came in the ninth round, when he was fouled three times in rapid succession by Mascart. At that time the Clevelander was far ahead on points, and the result of the bout was an assured victory for Corbett.

Referee Mat Hinkel twice warned the Belgian that his blows were too low, then as the third blow was delivered, gave the fight to Corbett. As a result of his victory, Corbett's manager plans to seek an early fight with Louis "Kid" Kaplan for the world's title.

In the semi-final, Mascart's stable mate, Rene Devose, Belgian middleweight champion, easily outpointed Tommy Burns of Detroit in eight rounds.

Rube Walberg Enacts Relief Hurler's Role

BOSTON, April 23.—Rube Walberg did well as a relief pitcher for the Athletics in the American league opener yesterday and Philadelphia defeated Boston, 6 to 5, in eleven innings. What proved the winning run came in when Hale walked and Simmons doubled off Wingfield in the eleventh.

In the tenth Boston had the bases full and none out, but did not score. Veach made a homer with two men on bases off Rommel in the sixth.

Ever since John McGraw got past the game warden with Childe Lindstrom, the big league scouts have been picking them younger and younger. Soon no cradle in the land will be safe.

Dundee Opened Historic Arena and He'll Be There at the Finish

The last fight to be held in the historic Madison Square Garden, New York city, before that building is torn down, will be staged May 5. Johnny Dundee, now a fading old veteran, will meet Sid Terris. Dundee was in Terris' shoes—with the future before him—when he signed to fight in the first show staged in the garden when it was opened to the boxing game years ago.

Tagging The Bases

Chicago fans presented Eddie Collins with gifts as he made his home debut as manager and then loose fielding by the Tigers made it unanimous by presenting Eddie and the White Sox with the ball game, 3 to 1. Both Thurston and Collins pitched commendably.

The Pirates returned to home cooking by again throwing the hooks into the Cubs, 9 to 1. In addition to holding the Cubs to five hits, Morrison stepped out of character with two triples when Kauffman purposely passed the preceding hitter.

Simmons' double scored Hale from first with the winning run in the eleventh, the Athletics again beating the Red Sox. Score 6 to 5. Walberg turned the Sox back without a run after they had filled the bases with none out in the tenth.

With Walter Johnson mowing them down like a grim reaper,, the Senators won in a canter from the Yankees, 10 to 1, at the official opening of the Washington season. Shocker had nothing but a headache.

The Dodgers amassed a total of seventeen hits off four pitchers but contrived to finish second to the Phillies, 8 to 7. Grimes, the Salivary holdout, made his first start of the season and showed little.

Three errors by Burrus and Bancroft in the ninth staked the Giants to the decision over the Braves, 6 to 5.

The crowd numbered 22,616, being an opening day record for Dunn Field.

Sisler hit safely in his eighth consecutive game when he singled in the ninth.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, at bed time.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.
